LASKER AND MACAULAY. ANOTHER HAWKS' RECORD. IDLE DOLLARS, IDLE MEN

—By Arthur Brisbane—

(Copyright 1930 By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Albert D. Lasker, now too rich to care about more money, devoted himself to spreading useful thought, including "Macaulay's essay on Coulhey's Colloquies on Society."

What Mcaulay had to say just 100 years ago in the Edinburgh Review, ought to be read by every gloomy American and Briton as well.

In 1830, after the Napoleonic wars, Europe was prostrate with disaster and debt. But the debt that then seemed unpayable, mulitplied by ten, would be only a joke today.

It is true that the battle of Waterloo was followed by the introduction of steam power, with its undreamed of industry and riches.

But, if the world of 1830 had steam, this age has electricity, mass production, and high wages, making possible mass consumption.

Let any business man in the dumps write to Albert D. Lasker, Chicago, and ask him for a copy of that Macaulay essay.

Captain Hawks, American's champion flier, goes on establishing records while others talk.

He has just flown from New York to Havana in 9 hours, 21 minutes, including stops of 23 minutes at Jacksonville, and 20 minutes at Miami. This trip means leaving New York after breakfast and getting to Havana in time for a swim before dinner. Hawks' flight average, 182 miles an hour, cut the record from 14 hours to 9 hours 21 minutes.

He nopes to lower that on the return journey.

Those who believe that the recent vote against prohibition means a change in the Volstead law should bear in mind the fact that the house of representatives now holds about 133 wets against 302 drys.

What 133 can do against 302 is all that the late election will do against prohibition.

However, if three or four of the biggest states in the Union are really determined not to have prohibition they won't have it. But the best that they can hope for, probably, is bootleg liquor based on ignoring the law.

Since the slump began, savings bank deposits have increased many hundreds of millions.

Thrift, when wise, is admirable. When it represents only vague fear it is harmful and destructive.

Idle dollars mean idle men.

He who will not buy somebody else's goods, if he has the money, will find somebody else unwilling to buy his services.

The employer content to talk platitudes while laying off men is cutting his own throat financially and will realize it.

"To convince others be yourself convinced." Billy Sunday coming back to wicked New York City for one day, is as convincing as he ever was. The temple where he battled with the devil and "king booze, the most awful scourge of America," was crawded and many more turned away.

Billy Sunday's devil is a real one, with hoofs made of horn, a real

PEACE ORATORS TO COMPETE AT CHURCH SUNDAY

Rev. Sidney Mayer, Methodist Pastor, Outlines Arrangements

FIVE STUDENTS IN LOCAL CONTEST

Winner Will Enter Finals In Columbiana County Competition

The annual peace declamation contest for Salem students will be held at the First Methodist church at 7:30 p. m. Sunday, Rev. Sidney A. Mayer, pastor, announced today.

The contest is being held in this city in conjunction with similar events throughout the state under the auspices of the Ohio Council of Churches. Declamations presented by the contestants have been prepared by leading advocates in the cause of international peace.

Five Salem High school students, three boys and two girls, will compete in the contests at the church. The winner will receive a bronze medal from the Ohio Council of Churches and will compete in finals in the Columbiana county competition.

Students and their subjects are:

James West, "The Sword and the Cup"; Louise Hixenbaugh, "The World is My Country"; Paul Smith, "The Strategy of Foch"; Rena Kaminsky, "Tell It to the Last Man," and John McConnell, "Hating War."

Judges will be Franklin F. Wells, Mrs. Guy E. Byers and J. C. Guiler.

Special musical will be played by the church school orchestra under the direction of C. M. Brautigan.

MERGER BATTLE ENDS IN COURT

Mass Of Testimony Submitted To Judge David Jenkins

(By Associated Press)

YOUNGSTOWN, Nov. 8. — The battle of attorneys is over and whether the merger of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. with the Bethlehem Steel corporation is consummated today was up to Common Pleas Judge David Jenkins.

Three weeks of summations of the months of testimony ended at a special session of court last night amid the jubilations of attorneys whose labors have compiled volumes of testimony.

Judge Jenkins, whose decision will decide one of the bitterest struggles of the steel industry and determine the fate off a billion dollar merger, today plunged into consideration of testimony, which, in his own words, makes "a stack as high as my head." He expected to require at least six weeks to come to a conclusion, pointing out that besides the maze of issues involved he has no precedent to guide him.

He said he "will not be seeking merely for an answer as to whether this merger shall or shall not be approved. The important questions of a commercial, business and economic nature are involvd."

LEETONIA MAY EXTEND LIMITS

Initial Steps Are Taken By Council Members To Create New Village Boundaries

COLUMBIANA, Nov. 8.—Initial steps towards the extension of Columbiana village limits were taken at a meeting of council here this week.

Council plans to annex territory located to the north of the village, action on the project being taken at request of property-owners in that area. The new village boundaries, according to council's plans, will extend to the Mahoning-Columbiana county line.

Council granted the board of affairs permission to drill a well on land leased south of the village. Tests will be conducted.

Lisbon Post Plans 1931 County Rally

LISBON, Nov. 8.—John J. Welsh Post American Legion of Lisbon will not sponsor an Armistice Day observance this year, it was announced today by Post Commander Lynn R. Riddle.

Plans are now being worked out by this post for a general observance in 1931, which will take the form of a county-wide celebration, with Legion posts from other towns and cities in the district participating.

2,641 Enrolled In Schools In October

Enrollment at Salem public schools was 2,641 during the school month ending on October 31, J. S. Alan, superintendent, announced in his monthly report today.

There were 1,331 boys and 1,310 girls enrolled during the month. The high school figures reached a new high mark, 734, while in junior high 468 pupils are listed.

A total of 2,050 students had records of perfect attendance while only 47 were tardy.

Prospect school had the best attendance record, 98.44 per cent.

HARY S. BECK, AGED 75, DIES

Funeral Services Will Be Held At Lutes Home Monday

Harry Shannon Beck, 75, of 846 East State street, resident off this city for more than 30 years, died at Salem City hospital following an illness of complications of diseases about 4:30 p. m. Friday.

Mr. Beck had been a moulder for more than 50 years and was a member of the International Moulders' Union of North America. He was also a member of the Deming Company Relief association, the Deluge Hose company and the First Baptist church of Sharon, Pa.

He is survived by one son, C. E. Beck of Salem; two daughters, Mrs. A. M. Poole of this city, and Miss Ethel Beck of Alliance. Three brothers, Charles W. Beck and Frank D. Beck, both of Youngstown; Cramer Beck of Akron, and four sisters, Mrs. T. C. Whitehouse of Youngstown; Mrs. H. C. Irwin of Sacremento, Calif.; Mrs. Harry Tinker off Denver, Colo., and Mrs. Grace Geggus, Cleveland, also survive together with seven grandchildren and five greatgrandchildren.

Funeral service, scheduled at 2 p. m. Monday at the Arnold P. Lutes funeral home, East State street, will be in charge of Rev. D. D. Palmer of Warren, a nephew of the deceased. Interment in Grandview cemetery.

Friends may call at the Lutes funeral home between 7 and 9 p. m. Sunday.

Program Is Given By Luther League

There was a large attendance Friday evening at the entertainment given by members of the Luther League at the Emmanuel Lutheran church.

Numbers on the program included selections by the orchestra of the First Friends church; playlet, "Meddlin';" vocal duet by Elizabeth Buchfelner and Tillie Fernengel; accordion solo, Mary Schuster; violin solo, Rosina Shell; selection by a quartet composed of Leonard Krauss, Ernest Rutsky, Clarence Schmid and John Krauss; piano solo, Isabel Jones; and playlet, "The Telegram."

G. O. P. CAMPAIGN CHIEF EXPLAINS BALLOT LOSSES

Disturbed Economic Conditions, Says Lewis, Prompts Vote

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS, Nov. 8.—Senator Roscoe C. McCulloch and Governor Cooper were defeated at last Tuesday's election because of "unemployment and disturbed economic conditions" and not because the voters were protesting against the records and accomplishments of the two Republican leaders, Earl R. Lewis, manager of the Republican state campaign, declared in a statement issued here today.

"Governor Cooper was defeated beyond a shadow of a doubt because of unemployment and disturbed economic conditions, for the relief of which he was doing more than any other governor," said Lewis. "It is perfectly clear that nowhere was there a protest vote against Governor Cooper's administration as such.

"People are out of jobs and the first thing that is thought of, under such circumstances, is a political change in the chief executive's office and in the offices represented in the national and state legislative bodies."

Lewis said Ohio "is still a Republican state" and that "the obstacles which we encountered at this election will disappear with the inevitable return of economic improvement, and hence, we face 1932 with confidence and optimism."

POLICE QUELL STUDENT RIOT

Pitt and Carnegie Supporters Celebrate Roughly; 76 Are Arrested

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8—Thirty-nine Cargenie Tech and 37 University of Pittsburgh students were under arrest today after members of the student bodies of both institutions had given police much to worry about as a prelude to the annual Pitt-Carnegie football game in Pitt stadium today.

The Pitt students ran afoul of the law late yesterday. The police thought they had their hands full in curbing the high spirits of the Panther supporters, but the Pitt demonstration was as nothing compared with the Carnegie students' celebration early today.

Pollock Is Winner

YOUNGSTOWN, Nov. 8—Judge John W. Pollock of Belmont county was re-elected to the court of appeals, seventh district, by a plurality of 30,000 votes over his two opponents, a tabulation of returns from the 14 counties involved showed today. Totals were Pollock 78,855; Carl Armstrong, Youngstown, 49,330; Joseph Cook, Ashtabula, 37,153. Cook was defeated for the same office two years ago. Judge Pollock carried 11 of the 14 counties this year.

POTTERY HEADS MEET TUESDAY IN CLEVELAND

Frank H. Sebring To Be Second Vice President Of Association

WILL SET DATE FOR WAGE PARLEY

J. M. Wells Of Newell To Give Labor Committee Report

Manufacturers of ceramic ware from Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana, New Jersey and Pennsylvania will attend the 52nd annual meeting of the United States Potters' association which will convene in Hotel Hollendon in Cleveland next Tuesday.

Frank H. Sebring, president and general manager of the Salem China company, and Floyd W. McKee, secretary-treasurer of the Salem company, will attend the meeting. Sebring, third vice-president, will be elevated to second vice president to succeed Homer J. Taylor of the American Chinaware corporation. Taylor, in turn, will be advanced to the first vice presidency, at present occupied by James M. Smith, president of the Shenango Pottery company at New Castle, Pa.

Set Date For Parley

The pottery owners will set a date and place for renewal of the biennial wage conference with representatives of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters. The conference will probably be held next month in Cleveland or Pittsburgh.

George C. Thompson of East Liverpool will be toastmaster at the banquet which will be held Tuesday night while in the afternoon a special executive session will be held which is expected to call together more than 75 representatives of general pottery ware manufacturers from all sections of North America. A feature of the opening day business schedule will be the report of the labor committee of which Joseph M. Wells of the Homer Laughlin China company, East Liverpool, is chairman.

Banquet On Tuesday

Wells will discuss the general wage conference which was held last summer in Atlantic City, N. J., in which agreements with the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters were extended until January 1, 1931.

Charles L. Sebring of Sebring is chairman of the reception and entertainment committee in charge of arrangements for Tuesday's banquet. The program will include six talks, five of which will be made by pottery executives.

Wednesday's sessions will be held primarily for active members of the association. Officers will be elected Wednesday afternoon.

PASTORS WILL AID RED CROSS

Mercy Work Will Be Lauded In Salem Pulpits Sunday

Calling attention especially to the series of Red Cross broadcasts sponsored by the national organization, Mrs. Myra B. Woodruff, executive secretary of the local chapter of the American Red Cross, today announced that the annual roll call is well under way in Salem.

Broadcasts are scheduled tonight at 6:15 and 7:45, Mrs. Woodruff points out.

The campaign has already been launched in several of the city's industrial plants. Special reference to the worthiness of the movement will be made from the pulpits of local churches Sunday.

City Is Granted Leave To Answer

LISBON, Nov. 8.—In the $10,000 damage action filed against the city of Salem, by Ruth E. Wilson, July 22 last, the court has granted the city of Salem leave to plead at once.

R. A. Baker, who was sued before Justice John W. Riley of Wellsville, by Earl D. Jarvis to recover $15 claimed to be owning for work and labor, has appealed his case to common pleas. A judgment for $13 and costs was returned in the lower court in favor of Jarvis.

An appraisment has been set aside and an alias order of sale has been entered by the court in the partition action filed July 12, 1929, by William G. Bortner against Charles E. Bortner and others.

In the appeal case of Martin McGregor against Burt Capel, leave has been granted the defendant to file an answer to the petition at once.

Short Term Congress Ready For Emergency Legislation

Government Heads Seek Passage Of Appropriation Bills Before March 4; Night Sessions Loom

By CECIL B. DICKSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8—The administration plans to concentrate on enactment of emergency legislation and important pending measures at the short term of the present congress beginning Dec. 1.

Turning attention from the election, the government heads have determined to make every effort to secure passage of the nine great annual appropriation bills by next March 4, to avoid a special session of the newly elected congress.

Should any of these supply bills fail of passage President Hoover would be forced to convene the new congress, the control of which remains in doubt or the government agencies not provided for would have to suspend business at the close of the fiscal year, June 30, 1931.

70-Day Session

The short session is for three months, but the legislative days probably will not exceed 10, in view of the usual two weeks of Christmas holidays and the Sundays. Night sessions of both houses are almost inevitable to complete the business.

President Hoover is known to be anxious that the present congress dispose of Muscle Shoals. At present legislation for this is deadlocked in conference between the senate, which approved government operation, and the house, which sanctioned sale to private interests.

The vast naval construction program under the London treaty is to be formulated. It may call for an outlay of three-quarters of a billion dollars.

Plan Unemployment Relief

Unemployment legislation probably will be one of the administration's greatest concerns. It also will be faced by a farm relief program sponsored by export debenture advocates in both branches.

There is a strong possibility President Hoover will recommend some changes in the legislation that formed the farm board and its $500,000,000 loan fund. It has been the subject of attack from many quarters.

The president has been represented as most desirous of passage at the coming session of the motor bus regulation bill which forms the unfinished business in the senate; the Wickersham proposals for relief of congestion in federal courts, and the proposal for a unified border patrol. All these have been passed by the house.

Alliance Singer At Services Here

Mrs. Percy Bottomley of Alliance, contralto, will furnish special music at the service Sunday morning at the Christian church. Rev. C. F. Evans will preach on the subject, "What's the Use of Being a Christian?" This is the fourth sermon in a series on "What's the Use in Religion?"

Pickrel Lead Cut

COLUMBUS, Nov. 8—Discovery of an error in the Mahoning county vote for William Piskerel, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor of Ohio, today cut Pickerl's lead to 632 votes, according to Secretary of State Clarence Brown. The unofficial figures, gathered by the secretary, and including the correct Mahoning vote gave Pickrel a total of 916,554; John T. Brown, Republican, 915,922.

BLAST TOLL 82, CHECK REVEALS

Emergency Crews Continue Exploration Of Tunnels

(By Associated Press)

MILLFIELD, Nov. 8—A re-check of the dead in Wednesday's gas blast at No. 6 mine of the Sunday Creek Coal company disclosed the death toll was 82 instead of 83 as previously reported officials announced today.

A check of the figures and names of the victims disclosed that Walter Hayden superintendent of the mine, had been counted twice, once with the official party of nine, which included the president of the mine company, and again in the list of mine workers, they said.

Emergency crews of the company continued the exploration of the labyrinth of tunnels in the mine today in an effort to ascertain if there were other miners still entombed.

The officials of the coal company announced that a fund of $9,000 had been set aside at the mine for the burial committee of the miners. The widow of each victim receives a check for $112.50 as soon as an application for compensation is made, the money being set aside for funeral and burial of the victims, the officials said.

Seek Foreclosure

LISBON, Nov. 8.—Foreclosure action has been filed by the Home Savings & Loan Co., of Youngstown, against William O. Finnigan to recover a judgment for $1,624.25 claimed to be owing on a loan of $1,650 obtained March 21, 1928. This note was secured by mortgage on lots 3 and 4, Fairmount proposed addition to Salem.

Veterans Of Foreign Wars To Take Part In Services

CLUBS, LODGES TO AID IN PROGRAM

Appropriate Sermons Are Listed In Churches On Sunday

Homage will be paid by the city of Salem next Tuesday to World war heroes as patriotic organizations, service clubs, city officials and lodges join in observance of the twelfth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice.

While the day has been especially set aside for the celebration of the signing of the pact which established international peace after years of warefare, tribute will be paid throughout the country as well, to mothers and widows of those who died in action.

Members of the G. A. R. in Salem, numbering a few surviving veterans of the Civil war, will also receive honors which the city's residents will bestow on that day. The occasion will be marked by an impressive spirit of solemnity as thoughts revert back to war days.

Services At Cemetery

Members of Charles H. Carey post, No. 56, American Legion, will have charge of the day's celebration which will start Tuesday morning with services at the grave of Charles Carey, first Salem youth to lose his life during the war. Members of Allen K. Reynolds post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will honor the memory of Allen Reynolds, for whom the post was named.

Gold star mothers and widows and the Civil war veterans will be provided transportation in the parade which will form in front of the Legion home, East State street, at 1:30 p. m. Salem High school and Quaker City bands, school children, patriotic organizations and various lodges and clubs will participate in the parade.

Factories, with the exception of a few departments, will be closed during the afternoon. Bells will toll and whistles will blow at 11 a. m. in commemoration of the hour at which warfare was stilled on November 11, 1919.

In the evening a banquet will be held for former service men at the

Rev. Sidney Mayer To Hold Services

Rev. Sidney A. Mayer, pastor of the First Methodist church here, will officiate at the services at the grave of Charles Carey. A salute will be fired by the Legion firing squad.

Edward C. Ramette, professor of French at Mount Union college, will be the speaker at the banquet at the Legion home. Ramette served with the French army for three years during the World war. The banquet will be limited to ex-service men, all of whom are invited whether they are members of the Legion post or not.

Mrs. Emma Shontz Dies In Leetonia

Mrs. Emma Shontz, 77, widow of Joseph Shontz, died at 9:45 p. m. Saturday at her home, 480 Columbia street, Leetonia.

Mrs. Shontz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Nold, was born Aug. 7, 1853, east of Columbiana. She was one of the oldest members of the Lutheran church.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Henry Hammerly, and Sarah at home; one son, Harry of Port Washington, Long Island; two granddaughters, Ruth and Elizabeth Sharp; two sisters, Mrs. E. E. Morgan of St. Petersburgh, Fla., and Mrs. Elizabeth Phillips of Chicago.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Monday at the home in charge of Dr. H. C. Brillhart. Burial will be in Oakdale cemetery.

Has Al Won?

BEVERLY HILLS, CAL., Nov. 8.—Every late edition brings in news of another belated Democratic victory, if they keep on counting, maybe by Monday, Al Smith will be in.

Did you ever hear off as crazy a law as Kentucky has? They make 'em wait 24 hours before counting the votes. That's to think it over and be honest.

Twenty-four hours is supsed to make you honest in Kentucky, why not wait till both candidates are dead, then there can be no crookedness shown.

Then they wonder why we don't take our lawmakers serious.

OPENING SHOTS

Senator Frederick H. Gillett of Massachusetts fired another of the opening shots in the campaign to secure support of the world court by the United States Friday at Mt. Holyoke college, where he spoke during the founder's day exercises celebrating the 93d anniversary of the establishment of the college. Senator Gillett has been an ardent proponent of American support for the court and is expected to be a leader in the senatorial discussions on the proposition this winter, if the lame duck senate decides to give time to the matter.

Assuming that widespread ignorance concerning the purposes of the court and its procedures exist, as indeed they do, Senator Gillett devoted the most of his speech yesterday to statements which answered prejudices against the court that might arise naturally from ignorance. "We are not risking much in helping to establish a court which can never try us except on our request . . . the court has no original jurisdiction; it cannot bind us by any judgment unless we have voluntarily submitted the case to its consideration . . . adherence to the court does not make us in any sense members of the League of Nations . . . the court is the practical outstanding possibility toward judicial settlement of world problems." Thus ran the general tone of the senator's arguments against popular misconceptions of the court's functions and power.

The case for American support of the court which Senator Gillett stated was summarized excellently by Chief Justice Hughes in an address before the bar association of the city of New York, Jan. 21, 1930. On that occasion Mr. Hughes concluded a long argument for American support of the court with the following paragraph:

"The judicial settlement of international disputes cannot be adequately secured by mere sporadic, occasional efforts. There should be continuity, permanency, the opportunity for the growth of confidence, and for the firm establishment of the tradition both of competency and judicial independence. As a nation devoted to the interests of peace, we have the utmost concern in this development. To hold aloof is to belie our aspirations and to fail to do our part in forming the habit of mind upon which all hopes of permanent peace depend. In supporting the world court in the manner proposed, we lose nothing that we could otherwise preserve; we take no serious risks that we could otherwise avoid; we enhance rather than impair our ultimate security; and we heighten the mutual confidence which rests on demonstrated respect for the essential institutions of international justice."

The United States has urged application of international law ever since the country was established. It has contributed materially to a world wide demand for a court which will interpret such law, and urged upon other nations the establishment of a permanent court of justice. This nation has joined 57 others in the pact of Paris, the signatories of which "condemn recourse to war for the solution of international controversies," and agree that the settlement of all disputes of conflicts of whatever nature or of whatever origin they may be, which may arise among them, shall never be sought except by pacific means."

The world court is the outstanding pacific means.

SOBER CONTEMPLATION

It must not be denied, to be consistent in honesty, that there are numbers of people rejoicing unduly over the Democratic party's firmer hold on the national reins. Their joy, in all probability, is the kind that comes from the prospect of a change. Scores of Republicans have been pitched out of office for one reason and some good is bound to result, they believe.

The New York Herald Tribune, which would be classed as the most powerful single Republican newspaper in the nation, has surveyed the situation and settled back with the suggestion that the country stabilize its fevered imagination by sober contemplation along four lines. The Herald-Tribune's position as a party organ makes its suggestion authoritative.

First, President Hoover remains in the White House. He is able and conscientious. He may not be absolute master of the political pack, but he is fundamentally sound in his policies and can be depended upon to keep things on a basis of intelligence. Considered as a man rather than as the leader of his party, he is a dependable figure.

Second, the hue and cry about majorities in congress can be taken with a grain of salt by Republicans and Democrats alike. The slender majorities that will be present when the question of majorities is settled will be insufficient to give either party the balance of power. A practical deadlock is certain on every contested issue and there will be no opportunity to override the president's veto. For two years at least no new federal interference can arise.

Third, whatever happens to political parties the economic thought of the country is pointed in the right direction. There is agreement that there are plenty of bumps ahead but the very intensity of the present gloom is proof that dawn is on the way.

Fourth and last, America is still the wealthiest country in the world, regardless of political currents. There is wealth enough to care for those who must be cared for and the generous employment programs in operation all over the country show that it will be distributed where it is needed.

It is not a time for gloating over gains or wailing over losses. Party victories and losses can do little to alter the fundamental of American stability or postpone the certainty that business recovery will occur—and occur independently of politicians.

What Others Say

FRANCE, ITALY AND THE TREATY

Whether or not Ambassador Gibson is actually bringing France and Italy together upon naval questions, no one can fail to be struck by the new tone of the foreign cables toward the arms problem. The coming meeting of the preparatory commission on disarament is assuming an unexpected vitality; while French journalists, if not the French government, are speaking of a French adhesion to the full term of the London treaty even without Italian participation.

France and Italy are already signatories of the London treaty, but Part III of it, limiting cruiser, destroyer and submarine tonnage, does not apply to them. Either or both might ratify the present document with small effect; the aim of the Franco-Italian negotiations has been to bring the two nations to an agreement as to their own relative needs, so that both might then negotiate new articles with the United State, England and Japan which, upon ratification, would extend cruiser and submarine limitation to all five powers.

The present suggestion—that France might agree at Geneva with the United States, England and Japan for her own inclusion in the full scope of the treaty without reference to Italy—is novel. Yet it only emphasizes the rather curious fact that no nation today is actually building a fleet which would not fit within the limits of the London treaty. By adhering to its full terms France and Italy do not stand to lose anything which they now have or expect to have in the immediate future. Their doubts are concerned only with prestige or with somewhat remote contingencies. But Europe today is a place in which such intangible advantages may be bought at too high a price.

Conditions are very different from what they were when France was cheerfully dissociating herself from the Geneva conference of 1927. The dangers of useless military rivalries are perhaps more apparent now than they were then, and it has become more desirable to avoid even the appearance of standing aloof from any common effort toward peace. It is for each nation to decide for itself when the immediate advantages of accepting a naval settlement outweigh any possible loss of future freedom which such a settlement might entail. But the situation today is due tending to accentuate the desirability of entering a settlement and to increase the dangers of trying to play a lone hand. France might well gain more through associating herself with the three other treaty powers than by standing upon the strict letter of her freedom vis-a-vis Italy.—New York Herald Tribune.

Nature has a way of sending out warnings when anything is wrong with these bodies of ours. She runs up signals of danger. And, what is more, she provides marvelous ways of attempting to correct faults in this intricate mechanism which is the body.

Dropsy is a condition that warns us something is wrong. It is a symptom to be heeded. It is a condition in which the fluid substances of the blood escape into the soft tissues of the body, or into some cavity of the body.

This fluid may not have the same origin in every case. It may have escaped from the capillaries of the blood circulation, or from the veins, or yet again from the lymphatics. Whatever the source of the fluid, dropsy comes from pressure or obstruction of one of these circulatory systems.

When the tissues are firm they and the muscles are able to resist this flow, and the amount of dropsical fluid is relatively small. But in case of disease of the liver, for instance, the quantity of fluid in the abdominal cavity is sometimes enormous. In such a case there is nothing to do but have it drawn off by some mechanical means. Of course, such a slight operation does not effect a cure. It only serves to relieve the pressure. The underlying cause must be determined and really curative measures taken.

Your doctor will decide whether it is the liver, the kidneys, the heart or some other organ that is at fault. Many times there is found a very scanty flow of urine, as though the fluid which should naturally escape this way was dammed up. If the kidneys are not seriously diseased, the remedies which would increase their action will do much to prevent the accumulation of fluid in the adbemnal cavity.

When the dropsical fluid happens to be in the ankles or eyelids, the condition is known as "cedema." If it is found all over the body it is called "anasarca." If the fluid fills one of the cavities it is know nas "dropsy". When it is the abdominal cavity it is termed "ascites."

In Bright's Disease there is failure on the part of the kidneys to function as they should. The quantity of urine is limited and the fluids of the body escape into the soft tissues. The affected parts are swollen, of course. On pressure of the finger, the skin and underlying tissues are pitted and fail to fly back into place when released. All their natural elasticity is lost because the tissues are boggy and water soaked.

One suffering from dropsy of any sort needs the helpful oversight of a doctor. He must not trust to his own skill. By correcting any organic defects and the building up of the health by careful diet, the right sort of exercise, sleep and rest, the return to a normal condition is only a matter of time. But persistent dropsical conditions should not be neglected.

Answers to Health Queries

MISS L. McI. Q—What do you advise for dandruff?

A—Careful and regular shampooing and the use of a good hair tonic should be generally helpful.

A READER. Q. What causes a boy of 18 to be troubled with unbearable pain around the heart? They some times last for an hour or more and are so intense as to cause him to shiver and moan?

2—What causes gray hair and what can be done to restore the color?

3—What can be done for wrinkles beneath the eyes?

A—Have the heart examined. The trouble may be due to several different causes. In the meantime avoid indigestion and keep the system clear. Also be sure to have proper rest.

2—Gray hair may come from a severe shock, but it is usually due to heredity. Nothing can be done once the hair has started to turn gray.

3.—A plastic surgeon may be helpful in this case.

A. Reader. Q—What should a girl of 14, 5 ft. 2½ in tall weigh?

A.—She should weigh about 112 pounds.

G. L. Q—What do you advise for cold in the nose?

2—What do you advise for a funny feeling in my heart which causes me to be weak and dizzy?

A—Special treatment for nasal catarrh would be advisable. For particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

2—I would suggest that you have a physician examine your heart.

X. Y. Z. Q—What causes my right foot to go to sleep so often?

2—Will I grow any taller?

3—What will reduce thick lips?

A—May be due to your circulation. Build up the general health and your circulation will improve.

2—Yes you will continue to grow and develop generally until you reach the age of 21.

3—Gentle massage may be helpful, but it must be done very lightly, using a good cold cream and using only the tips of the fingers.

Mrs. G. W. N. Q—What would cause a little boy of six years of age to belch all the time and what would cause his eyes to stay swollen?

A—Hyperacidity and indigestion would account for the former condition. Have a careful urinalysis made to determine whether or not the kidneys are involved. Your doctor will advise you.

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — Stephen Chesnick is completing a "mystery" airplane behind the closed doors of an old garage here. Chesnick refuses to reveal details of his craft except to say he hopes to be ready for a test flight this month. It is said two motors will be installed, one on each wing.

MONTICELLO, N. Y.—Search for a deer which he had seen drop in a field proved fatal to Fred Woods, 45, of Cold Springs. The deer came into contact with a high powered circuit and was killed instantly. Woods touched the same circuit and was killed.

NEW YORK Day by Day
by O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—For three months a very British attache of a riding academy has been teasing me to become a pupil. I held my temper over his insinuations my liver needed a shaking up and so many feared to ride on account of the handicap of age.

But his sneer, "The very best people invariably ride!" got me. You'd think I live across the tracks in the hollow so I told him to bring on his mustang and added testily I desired a mount that was spirited. Nobody can goad me!

As a matter of fact I was brought up in the saddle. It was only a muckledun coloured pony with the heaves, but it had its moments. There is an old saying on the range that one who has learned to swim or ride a horse never forgets either. And that—lie that it is—was comforting.

So I scrambled out at daylight, the morning sky chiffoned in pink, tra. la. for the first lesson and in my butterbean shaped riding pants and blue flannel shirt taxied to the academy. The mount was a mare named Julia and as she frisked out of the stall her glance was not particularly affectionate.

A groom they called Erbert led her to a mounting block which was circled by a group of grinning hostlers. I tried to nuzzle my face against Julia's—you know, the old horseman—but she would have none of me, jerked her head away and began pawing at the ground.

There was nothing to do but straddle her. The instructor suggested I let her have her head. He was the sort you see at the hunts who ride hell-for-leather and cry "Heigh, ho, the fox!" without batting an eyelash. After cantering a short space along he observed: "A little forward. You are doing fine."

But something got into Julia. My reply was something like this: "I—glub, glub—haven't been on—whoa, Julia!—the back of a—glubbity, glub, glub—horse for more than—nice Julia!—twenty years. This saddle—erkity-ork—is a little—For God's sake stop her!"

As I flashed under one of the bridges spanning the bridle path of Central Park I heard a roughneck on his way to work call out: "Old Tom Mix in person!"

Every now and then Julia, the hussy, would twist her neck around to see if I happened to be still there, and indulge a fresh spurt. Once I caught a glimpse of the instructor who was by my side placidly enough, gazing casually here and there at the beauties of the early morning. He seemed totally unconscious his pupil was on a runaway wild horse. As I would go up in the air it didn't appear so bad but when I came down—O, baby!

There is a saying none is so calm as one flirting with disaster. In all the hoopla the strangest thoughts raced through what I facetiously call my brain. I thought of good old Guy Campbell and how his bridgework held up under terrific strain. Flashing by the tall Egyptian obelisk I wondered if H. T. Webster was still smoking that pipe that would gag a buzzard. There was what was left of the Hotel Majestic—a hole in the ground! And Copeland Townsend, a rare soul, gathered to his fathers. There was deserted Columbus Circle and perhaps my last view of it. And on and on we thundered in a thud of flying hoofs, Julia, the soandso, and I. And that damned snippet of an instructor.

Once in rounding the turn near the Plaza—for the 118th time I think—I even smiled wanly. It was over a remark of my wife's, poor scul nearing widowhood. At dinner last night I called her attention to a fashion article that fingernails were being blackened. She replied: "You have been partly in style all your life." If she could just see her chalk white husband now, she'd regret that crack!

I really don't know what happened to Julia, unless she just wore herself out, but her mad gallop slowed down to a trot. And I sit on a trot even worse than a gallop. But I finally brought her to a full stop in a lather of streaming foam. "Quite a canter!" remarked old fuzzy-wuzzy, but I quit speaking to him long ago.

And if I get through the next three or four days without breaking in two, look out for a swell puff for Paul Revere. There was a boy!

The Stars Say —

For Sunday, November 9

Sunday's horoscope is not a very important one, excepting that affairs of church, clergy and charity may move into progressive grooves. The frame of mind may not be happy one, leaning toward criticism, sarcasm, irritability and bickering. If turned to mystical or occult preoccupations it may find gratification.

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a fairly prosperous year, with some success and advancement, but there must be a determination not to let disputes, turbulences and sarcastic speech mar these prospects.

A child born on this day may be fairly prosperous and progressive, but should no imperil its prospects by indulgence in rash and hasty conduct and sarcastic speech. With care it may win out by diplomacy and shrewdness and aggressiveness.

MACHINE REFORESTATION OF EMPIRE STATE

This machine at Syracuse, N. Y., is being operated by two men to plant trees at the rate of about 10 acres a day, the trees being planted six feet apart. Two rows are laid down simultaneously, the hole being dug and the soil pressed around the shoot by the machine. Since the machine is said to reduce the cost of planting from $8 to $10 an acre to approximately $3.50 an acre, it is expected to revolutionize the work of reforestation.

ALIMONY SUIT IS DISMISSED

Rulings Listed In Other Common Pleas Divorce Cases

LISBON, Nov. 8—The alimony action recently filed in common pleas court by Mary Joy against her husband, Harold C. Joy, has been dismissed on motion of the plaintiff, and at her costs.

On the ground of extreme cruelty, a divorce decree has been obtained by Irene Green against her husband, Emanuel Green, and upon the payment of the costs. This case was not contested.

Gross neglect of duty and habitual drunkenness for more than three years was set up in the divorce petition filed by Elizabeth Barber against her husband, Wilson I. Barber, and a decree was granted Mrs. Barber. Custody of minor children has been awarded the mother.

In the divorce petition filed by Mary L. Pollock against her husband, Raymond T. Pollock, grounds of action were given as extreme cruelty and gross neglect of duty. A decree has been obtained by the plaintiff, and the custody of a minor child awarded Mrs. Pollock. A decree for alimony will be incorporated in the journal entry.

Although the divorce petition of Elizabeth J. Miller against her husband was filed July 18, the case was not called for trial until Friday, when, in an uncontested trial, the plaintiff was granted a decree on the grounds of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty. The decree was issued upon the payment of the costs.

After Nellie Jackson was granted a divorce from her husband, Verne Jackson, of 221 West Fourth street, Erie, Pa. on the ground of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty, the court barred the defendant from any dower right in the property of the plaintiff. This case was filed July 26 last, and constructive service was obtained on the defendant by advertising.

COLUMBIANA

Mrs. Harry McBride and Mrs. C. E. Smith were hostesses Wednesday night to members of the Young Ladies' Bible class of the Presbyterian Sunday school, the occasion being the birthday anniversary of the teacher, Mrs. Smith, and the 15th anniversary of her joining the church. Twenty-four members and four visitors were present. A lunch was served by a "waitress," who later proved to be Miss Mable Strohecker. The business session was in charge of the president, Mrs. G. G. Pinkerton. Mrs. Ruth Lehman was elected treasurer, to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Amanda Graham, resigned. Mrs. Clarence Park will entertain at the December meeting.

The Scrosis society met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. W. H. Britten, South Main street, with "Russia" as the theme. The members responded to roll call by naming famous Russians. Mrs. Isaiah Mowen gave a paper on "Russia of the Romanoffs," and Mrs. Edward Bierman one on "Russia of the Revolution." Mrs. Evan Rolles gave a report of the Russian opera, "Sadke." The next meeting, Nov. 19, will be at the home of Mrs. Clarence Shontz, and the program will continue the study of "Russia."

Entertain Club

Mrs. C. L. Stacy and Mrs. S. E. Tidd entertained members of the Resemont club and a few guests Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Tidd, the affair being arranged as a "Hard Time" party. Four tables of bridge were in play and refreshments were served in a unique manner, appropriate to the nature of the event.

Mrs. Robert Benninghoff was hostess Tuesday evening to 14 members of her Sunday school class. This was the first social meeting and the following officers were elected: President, Miriam Forbes; vice president, Lucille Dieffenbacher; secretary, Mercy Davidson; treasurer, Vivian Mitchell. Games and contests were enjoyed, after which a lunch was served by the hostess.

The Columbiana Rotarians will vary their usual program Monday evening in two ways. One, the location, the meeting being held at the Rogers Community hall, the suppe: to be served by the ladies of the Rogers M. E. church, and second, the program, which will include a debate by Rev. C. E. Krumm and Attorney H. W. Hammond.

—O—

Miss Margaret Topleff of Marion, O., a student at Kent State college, is visiting at the home of Mrs. W. W. Tolerton, East Third street.

Mrs. Anna Lamprecht of Lakewood, O., is visiting relatives in Salem.

Mrs. Violet Wood of Lisbon, has entered the Salem City hospital for surgical treatment.

FOND DU LAC, Wis.—When a cow and an automobile meet on a Wisconsin highway, the cow has the right of way—unless the car owner wants to foot the bill. Alfred Ludwig collected $410 when he brought suit against a motorist whose auto killed two of his cows and injured two others. Judge J. M. Gooding ruled that Wisconsin statutes give cows the right of way.

WESTON, MO.—A long, frostless fall has been a boon to the tobacco raisers of Missouri. Buyers estimate about 6,000,000 pounds will be bought and sold in Weston, the tobacco center of the midwest. Such an amount represents approximately 28,000,000 stalks.

Gets Nation's Highest Honor

Colonel Edward V. Rickenbacker, of Columbus, Ohio, the man who brought down more enemy airplanes than any other American flier during the World War, and who, in peace time, demonstrates his love for the air. President Herbert Hoover will present Colonel Rickenbacker with the Congressional Medal of Honor, the highest distinction it is possible for this nation to bestow upon an American soldier for gallantry in action.

Changes Planned In Work Of Welfare Groups In State

Legislation Prepared For Next Session Of Legislature

COLUMBUS, Nov. 8—A movement is being launched for the reorganization of county welfare machinery in Ohio, according to an announcement made today by the Ohio Institute, a welfare organization, here.

Legislation, according to the announcement, has been prepared for introduction, at the next session of legislature, of new movements in charitable endeavor, and the perfection of many old ones. The principal bill is to allow the counties to centralize their welfare services in a single county welfare department. This bill is the product of several conferences attended by a group of community fund leaders, local officials from various parts of the state, and representatives of the State Department of Welfare, Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, Ohio Public Health Association, Ohio League of Women Voters, Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs and the Ohio Institute.

The proposed bill permits, but does not require, any county to establish a department of welfare to take over the various institutions and relief and correctional activities which are now scattered among seven or eight separate county boards and officials. Together these services are costing Ohio counties over $15,000,000 a year, the committee finds, and are the second largest item in county expenditures. At least 50,000 persons, it is estimated, are dependent in whole or in part on counties for support.

Among activities which would be placed in the county welfare department are the county home, tuberculosis hospital, children's home and blind relief. At the option of the juvenile court, the department would serve as the agent of the court in handling mothers' pensions and juvenile dependency and probation work.

The departments would be headed by an unpaid board of welfare appointed by the county commissioners, and a director chosen by the board.

78 ARE PLACED ON HONOR ROLL

Freshmen Heading High Grade Winners At High School

Seventy-eight students at Salem High school attained membership on the school's honor roll during the first six weeks' period of the first semester, according to announcements made at the school Friday.

Freshmen head the list of students on the roll, 27 members of the first-year class being honored. Senior, junior and sophomore classes each had 17 students listed.

Four juniors, Mary Louise Miller, Mary Balterinic, Virginia Grama and Selma Liebschner each received grades of "A" in four subjects.

The complete list of students on the honor roll follows:

Lela Naragon, Esther Neckel, Mildred Ospeck, Walter Papesch, Ruth Ruggy, Charles Russell, Josephine Severyn, Paul Smith, Robert Snyger, Kathryn Taylor, Martha Wells and Julia Woods.

Hunt Capone Enemy

CHICAGO, Nov. 8—Terry Druggan, reputed beer baron and gang leader credited with the latest plot to remove "Scarfafee Al" Capone from his throne as gang overlord, was the object of countywide manhunt today.

In addition to a contempt of court citation handed down last night by Judge John H. Lyle, nemesis of grangsters, Druggan is facing trial on charges of murder, income tax evasion and vagrancy.

Pleads Not Guilty

LISBON, Nov. 8—Victor Harris of Pittsburgh, Pa., recently arrested in St. Clair township by Constable Clyde Birch, charged with possession of a half pint of liquor, entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned before Probate Judge Lodge Riddle, and gave $200 bond for a hearing later in the month.

spear, and a genuine hell with fire and brimstone.

It is refreshing to see and hear somebody who really believes something.

At the Columbia university club a gentleman who lives in New York's Park avenue, right where the rents are highest, asks the president "to urge cancelling all of the debts." He wants somebody to take the lead in that.

That has already been done by several European nations. If cancelling debts as the gentleman suggests, would "spur prosperity's return," prosperity ought to be coming back now, on the run.

Why not suggest cancelling the debts and sending over ten billions more, just to make sure of prosperity?

Or would it be a better idea to take the money, if we can get it, since they owe it to us, and use it to employ American labor?

John Hopkins medical school renders great public service in the study of the "common cold."

It is found to be due to a germ of "virus" so small that the microscope cannot detect it, and no filter will stop its passage. It has been impossible thus far to manufacture a serum to develop immunity in human beings. Such a serum would be next in value too smallpox vaccination. The "common cold," usually neglected, lays the foundation for diseases that cause death.

Paymaster Robbed

COLUMBUS, Nov. 8.—H. W. Beck paymaster for the Boyajohn and Barr, contractors, was robbed of between $4,000 and $5,000 today by bandits who accosted him as he was leaving the City National bank in the downtown section. The money was to pay workmen and the new physical education building at Ohio State university.

Services Sunday, Nov. 9, the twenty-first Sunday after Trinity.

Celebration of the Holy Communion, 7:30 p. m.

Church school, 9:30 a. m.

Morning prayer and sermon, 11.

Since next Tuesday is Armistice day the thought of that day will be particularly stressed on Sunday in prayers and sermon. Armistice day stands for a continual recollection of the sacrifices made in the World war; sacrifices of nations and of families and of individuals. The day does not yet stand for a universal determination that, like sacrifices, shall never be necessary again. More than fifty nations have signed a pact to outlaw war but we are constantly told of the elaborate preparations that are being made in Europe for the "next war." Armies are, in many cases, larger than they were at the time of the outbreak of the war. The various conferences looking toward partial disarmament have not been very successful. The war spirit undoubtedly possesses a large part of mankind. War will never stop until we are determined to stop it. Formal resolutions are of some value, but not much. American public opinion, were it definite, would have almost a coercive effect and value throughout, the world, but in its divided state it is worse than useless.

The church can place a strong emphasis upon peace. But it cannot go beyond that. Agreements of individuals that they will not take up arms, even if their government calls upon them, are worse than useless. War will continue until a substitute for war is generally accepted.

So the church will pray on Sunday:

O Blessed Jesus, Saviour of mankind, at whose birth the night was filled with heavenly radiance; Lighten the thick darkness of the world, and the gloom of our miseries and fears; have compassion upon the peoples of the earth stumbling in confusion, and guide their feet into the way of peace; Who art with the Father and the Holy Ghost one God, world without end. Amen.

11, Morning worship. Armistice day service. Fifty nations of the world, including our own, have signed the Paris peace pact, which reads, in part, "The high contracting parties solemnly declare in the names of their respective peoples that they condemn recourse to war for the solution of international controversies and renounce it as an instrument of national policy in their relations with one another." But the Paris peace pact must be written on human hearts as well as on costly parchment before its aim is to be realized. It is a part of the church's business to thus inscribe its message on the human heart. To this end the sermon theme for this service will be "Mankind's Supreme Sin." There will be an Armistice day story for the boys and girls entitled "The Three Princes." The Junior and Intermediates will retire to their respective rooms during the second hymn.

The Christian religion may be found lacking in physical verification of some of its truths and doctrines. The test-tube is defied. The microscope is found useless. It is faith alone that will show the way clear to acceptance in full belief. Thus there is presented the easy possibility of doubt. God would not try to eliminate doubt from the world. Since doubt may be here, there is a chance of a higher and finer faith. The trust that Thomas had in Jesus Christ was of a lower nature because he demanded physical evidence. Faith accepts without seeing.

Morning worship, 11. Sermon, "Soul Winning."

Not all the world accepts Christ as Savior. Not all America, yea not all of our own city can be counted as won for Christ and His Kingdom. Thus the work of every Christian is defined by the great head of the church, Jesus Christ. Souls are won not by chance, but by the work of the Holy Spirit and the efforts of Christian men and women. We must be more than Christians ourselves. We must attempt to direct others in this way of life. Silently may we witness for Christ, but by word of mouth are we to win our fellow citizens to His church.

MINE DISASTER PROMPTS STEPS TOWARD SAFETY

Assembly Members Pledge Support To Remedial Legislation

(By International News Service)

ATHENS, Nov. 8. — Legislative proposals designed to insure stricter inspection of mines and provide greater safety may result from the mining disaster at Millfield Wednesday, it was learned today.

State Senator-Elect Louis Eberle (D), off Nelsonville, and State Rep. S. K. Mardis (R), of Athens, both stated today that they would offer their support to any legislative proposal to avert future mine tragedies in Ohio.

They had no specific legislative proposal in mind, however, at this time.

Eberle, who is familiar with mining conditions, having operated about a dozen of them, registered his personal opposition to the use of open lamps in mines.

"This is one of the most terrible things that ever happened," said Eberle. "While I have nothing definite in mind at this time, I certainly will introduce a bill at the coming session of the Ohio legislature—providing I have been elected a senator—if I find anything that I think can improve the existing mining laws."

Mardis said he will gladly introduce and support any remedial legislation that miners or operators may submit to him.

TRAIN BANDITS ELUDE POLICE

Lack Of Clews In Oakland Robbery Handicaps Authorities

(By Associated Press)

OAKLAND, Cal., Nov. 8.—The thorough methods of the outlaws who robbed a Southern Pacific local train of $55,700 at Nobel, Cal., yesterday, left authorities little in the way of clues today.

Search centered in the hills east of San Francisco Bay where it was believed the band of five to seven may have a hideout, and in the known rendezvous of underworld characters in the bay cities.

The uniformity of dress of the bandits — brown overalls, yellow caps and white masks—prevented officers from obtaining good descriptions.

One of the bandits, armed and masked, who apparently had boarded the train at Berkeley, made his way to the locomotive as it approached Nobel and ordered Engineer R. E. Lemery to stop.

There the bandit's companions, armed with automatic rifles, pistols and sawed off shot-guns, waited in a stolen automobile. The entire train was immediately covered with their battery and a shot—the only one to be fired—was sent into the mail car with the command to "open up."

Methodically they looted the mail car, passing the mail and money to the waiting automobile. Their principal loot was about $55,000 consigned by the Federal Reserve bank to the American Trust company branch at Pittsburgh. The money was to meet payroll checks of the Columbia Steel Works company. The workers at the plant were not paid because of the robbery.

Scarcely 15 minutes after the train had stopped the robbers sped away in the automobile with the loot. Passengers were not molested, nor was baggage disturbed.

A sack containing $1,000 in cash, an empty mail sack which had been slashed open, and the pistol and holster taken from the mail clerk were found near the scene.

Traveling Theatre Tours Through Germany in Bus

Leading Actors and Actresses of German Stage, Touring the Hinterlands, Blaze the Torch of Drama and Bring Joy to Rural Villages.

THE TRAVELING THEATRE,

ACTRESSES ADVERTISE OWN SHOW IN RING UP THE CURTAIN!

BERLIN.—In Germany the torch of the drama is alight in the tiniest town or village. The Traveling Players of Berlin, an organization financed by a wealthy and artistic sponsor, has in six years gained world-wide fame, and lovers of the drama in other lands are studying the methods of the motor mummers to ascertain whether their unique methods can be copied.

No mean or amateur productions are permitted by the German traveling players. If the setting is in a barn with hay and agricultural implements hastily pushed to one side, it makes no difference. The splendid orchestra plays, scenery and props are all used and a perfect lighting system adds to the reality and perfection of the production.

The idea was founded on a desire to afford steady employment for some of the ablest actors and actresses of the German stage, during the often inactive summer season. That and the wish to give people in outlying districts the opportunity to enjoy the best of plays presented by a capable cast with fine settings. A large motor bus and trailer were purchased. The bus has seats for thirty-five persons and ample luggage space. The trailer, a specially built van, holds the scenery and properties for a repertoire of six plays and one operetta. Costumes, like the scenery equipment and lighting, are the best.

The company numbers within its ranks, eighteen able performers, all except two being of the original company. There are five fine musicians and five mechanics. There are six new plays and a new and lively operetta, every year. The wandering players are versatile, they play broad farce, drawing-room comedy and tragedies. Some plays are from the classics of other days, others, are plays that have had long runs in some of the finest contemporary theaters. The orchestra is as much an attraction as the plays themselves. They are all symphony musicians.

The itinerary of the traveling players is made up before the company leaves Berlin, where they spend weeks in ardous and thorough rehearsals. Thus they know exactly when and where they will present their shows long in advance. The company plays in whatever auditorium is available. Sometimes it is the Council Chamber of the town or village, sometimes the auditorium of the town's largest concert or music hall. Occasionally the leading hotel's lobby or drawing room becomes for the nonce the theater. Occasionally it is a lodge room. But whatever the spot, the players are not temperamental. They are proud of their art and feel that it does not depend upon settings to give it full emphasis. They are happy to bring the drama to the most out-of-the-way places. That is their purpose.

The patrons of the motor mummers eagerly await their share of the drama and always have some sort of a theater ready for them when they arrive in their bus. The whole village assists in unloading and placing the scenery, wardrobe trunks, portable footlights, spotlights and the vast paraphernalia that even the smallest theatrical organization needs.

Needless to say the house is always sold out long in advance. There is always a capacity audience, vociferous in its enthusiasm. In the larger communities they stay a week presenting a different play nightly and an operetta at the matinee performance. In smaller districts they remain from one to three days. But wherever they go the tale is the same. Gratitude to those who find joy in giving the best of the theater to those who are starved for the joy that even an ordinary play brings, be it presented before a rural or an urban audience.

Case Is Dismissed

LISBON, Nov. 8.—Robert J. Boyce, plaintiff in a divorce petition filed against his wife, Grace Boyce, May 1, 1929, having since died, the injunction heretofore allowed by the court in this issue on the cross petition of the defendant has been dissolved, and the case dismissed by Judge W. F. Jones. The costs in the case are to be paid by the estate of the plaintiff, with no further record appearing.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y.—Henry Eberhardt, Schenectady florist, still is bemoaning the fate which caused an escaped monkey to spoil his chances of bagging a deer near North Creek in the Adirondacks. Eberhardt was on the alert for a shot, when he heard a crackling of branches overhead. He looked up and saw a monkey. At the same time a buck came within range but Eberhardt had dropped his rifle in surprise.

COOPER CALLS TAXATION MEET

State Committee To Convene At Columbus On Nov. 12

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS, Nov. 8.—Governor Myer Y. Cooper today called a meeting of his state committee on taxation here November 12, starting at 1 p. m.

"It is expected that the committee will make its report in time for Governor Cooper to make use of its suggestions in his message to the general assembly just prior to his retirement from office," said Charles A. Jones, the governor's secretary.

"It is believed that the studies made by the taxation committee, covering a period of months, will prove of great value to the new administration (of Governor-elect George White) in considering tax legislation."

Denies $330 Note

LISBON, Nov. 8.—In a suit filed by Alexander W. Jenkins, by his counsel, Billingsley & Moore of Lisbon, against Benjamin H. Curry and others, the plaintiff denies ever signing a note held by them for and if such a note exists, that the signature is a forgery.

Jenkins has set up that a judgment has been entered against him in the municipal court at Cincinnati, and that an execution is about to be levied upon his property, and against such action the court has been asked to issue a restraining order.

It has also been set up in the petition that the note has been placed in the hands of Att'y. Raymond Knepper of Wellsville, to collect, and also that the plaintiff never signed the note at issue.

Lacks Prosecution

LISBON, Nov. 8.—For want of prosecution, the action for money only filed by Lorraine B. Marshall against William G. McCann has been dismissed by Judge Lones at the costs of the plaintiff and without further record.

Leave to the plaintiff to file an amended petition at once has been granted by the court in the case of Jane R. Phillips against the City of East Liverpool.

In the appeal action filed June 12, 1929 by F. G. Ackerman against George Allen, the court has allowed the plaintiff leave to file a petition on or before November 15.

Wife Asks Divorce

LISBON, Nov. 8.—Mabel Rouse, a minor, through her next friend, Mary Lewis, has filed a divorce petition in common pleas court against her husband, George Rouse, her counsel being L. M. Keyes of East Palestine. The couple were married Oct. 13, 1928. Gross neglect of duty is given as a ground of action. Both temporary and permanent alimony is sought in this case.

GRETNA, La.—Elizabeth Roussel, 80, the original "Aunt Liza" in the negro writings of Emmett Kennedy, died here recently.

LEGION HEADS ARE IN CHARGE

Veterans Of Foreign Wars To Take Part In Services

Legion home. The cmoplete program will be announced by committees in charge of the affair Monday.

A number of Salem churches will hold appropriate services Sunday. The First Baptist congregation will hold a memorial service at 11 a. m. in which the veterans will be honored. The service will be semi-military. Rev. A. C. Westphal, pastor, will speak on the subject, "The Western Front." A special song, "Beyond the Sunset Bar" will be sung by the choir while a visual evangel, "Blood Stained Flags," will be given for children of the congregation.

Rev. C. A. Roth, pastor of the Church of Our Saviour, calls attention to the solemnity of observance of Armistice day, stating that "Armistice day stands for a recollection of the sacrifices made in the World war, sacrifices of nations, families and individuals."

A special prayer for peace will be offered by Rev. Roth in the services at the Church of Our Saviour Sunday.

Judge W. S. Slocum On Lisbon Bench

LISBON, Nov. 8.—On account of the court of appeals sitting in common pleas court next week, commencing at 1 p. m. Monday, no assignment is being made up for No. 1 court room by Assignment Commissioner James G. Stevenson for the coming week.

Judge Winfield S. Slocum of Painesville has been assigned to preside in this county for two weeks, starting Nov. 17, when jury cases will be tried in both No. 1 and No. 2 court rooms. The assignment for the week of November 17 is now being worked up.

There will be only four days of court the week of Nov. 24, on account of the Thanksgiving holiday. Judge Slocum has not presided in this county since early in the year, when he was assigned to this county upon two different occasions.

Bandits Thwarted

Plainfield, Ill., Nov. 8.—Two disappointed bandits who "shot up" the State bank of Plainfield in the approved wild west fashion only to find the glass-enclosed cashier's cage impervious to their bullets, were being hunted today.

Surprised to find their bullets dropping harmlessly from the bullet-proof glass before the cashier's cage, the pair fled without getting any loot.

Army Rules Favorite To Register Victory Over Illinois Team

THE DAY In Sports

CLOTHES BY CAVANAUGH

Albie Booth, catching a Harvard kick-off at Soldiers' field last fall, momentarily juggled the ball—just long enough to bring his Yale interference piling up the Crimson would-be tacklers—set the stage for a runback of 95 yards for a touchdown when he reversed his field and broke into the clear with no one in front of him. He completed a third of the distance when Bill Ticknor reached out a long despairing hand and stayed Booth's flight by grabbing the slack in the shoulder of Albie's jersey.

Immediately after the game Adam Walsh made the statement that Booth would not have been stopped by Ticknor had he worn a Fordham uniform.

Why a Fordham uniform? Because Fordham wears a costume that carries no slack in the jersey. Its suits are all one-piece. The top part is a vest, the old-fashioned doublet type, laced down the front, form fitting style, and is connected to the pants by an elastic belt or band. A jersey is worn under the vest. No shoulder pads are used, instead a quarter of an inch of belt being built into the vest from shoulder to shoulder.

Last year, when Fordham was rolling up its impressive record the team and its uniforms came under widespread notice. In appearance the team, because of the doubles, was a throwback to the days of guards-back formations, five-point field goals and the flynig wedge when all teams wore such costumes.

Fordham this year is using the same one-piece uniform and is the only team in the country equipped in such a fashion. Striking features are the high thigh guards of different cut than others to prevent charley-horse; special shoes with rubber built into the uppers to prevent ankle injuries, and one long cleat to replace the customary number as an aid to footing in either dry or wet turf.

If football programs were arranged in the style of theatrical programs they would bear this footnote: Costumes by Cavanaugh. The inventor and designer of this Maroon outfit is Major Frank Cavanaugh, the coach. A student of the game to which he has given many years of his life, Cavanaugh has accomplished great things in football. It was Cavanaugh who pioneered the straight buck on direct pass and it was Cavanaugh who brought out the spiral pass from center to replace the end-over-end method. He also invented the famous Dartmouth off-tackle play.

Cavanaugh invented the new uniforms when, on going to Boston College in 1921, he was faced with an inadequate supply of shoulder pads and an over-abundance of shoulder injuries among the players. He tossed out the pads and designed the new layers of felt and had no trouble with injured shoulders. When he came to Fordham he designed the one-piece uniforms and since no Maroon ball-carrier has been thrown by being caught by the slack in his jersey or a loose belt in the pants.

One reason for Fordham's present great record is the absence of injuries. Perhaps, in the next few seasons all football teams will be wearing Costumes by Cavanaugh.

Coach Everett S. Dean, head basketball and baseball coach at Indiana University has completed the preparation of a set of 74 colored lantern slides illustrating new methods of instruction for basketball coaches. The slides by form pictures, charts, and explanations visualize basketball plays and fundamentals. They show offensive plays which have been used by Indiana other Big Ten teams and are accompanied by a booklet which explains details of the plays and pictures.

Crowd Of 50,000 Will View Combat; Indiana Meets Northwestern

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Army's unbeaten football team ruled a 2 to 1 favorite today to take the measure of the much cuffed-about University of Illinois eleven at Yankee Stadium this afternoon. It is estimated that 50,000 persons will view the combat.

There are plenty of experts who will not be surprised if Coach Robert C. Zuppke of Illinois redeems a disastrous season by coming with a victory. If he does he will astonish the football world, for, in the light of its record, Illinois looks anything but formidable. They were slaughtered by Northwestern, 32 to 0, beaten by Michigan, 15 to 7, and crushed by Purdue last Saturday, 25 to 0.

Army, on the other hand, has gone through a hard season unbeaten. It was held to a 7-to-7 tie by Yale but conquered Harvard, 6 to 0, and rolled up big scores against their other adversaries. On paper they check up entirely too strong for Illinois.

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—The midwest, with only a scanty layout of football entertainment today, had one eye cocked on the east where four of its major representatives had engagements.

Heading the list at home is Northwestern's invasion of Indiana in which the only uncertain angle appeared to be the size of the score by which Dick Hanley's unbeaten Wildcats would whip the Hoosiers, Indiana, with three victories over supposedly stronger Northwestern teams during the past three seasons, appeared to be in for a real licking, and Northwestern expected its fourth straight Big Ten triumph.

Purdue Meets Chicago

The situation was about the same at Stagg field where Purdue was paired with Chicago. The Boilermakers, since their unfortunate start at Michigan in the initial contest of the conference season, have steadily picked up momentum and looked able to defeat the luckless Maroons by a lop-sided margin.

A tough battle was in prospect at Milwaukee where Iowa, somewhat revived after a weak start, had a date with Marquette's unbeaten eleven. Another great struggle was expected at Detroit where Fordham's powerful outfit was down to meet the University of Detroit. The Titans lost their first game of the season to Iowa last week, but were primed to the hilt to redeem themselves by taking Major Frank Cavanaugh's great eleven.

WASHINGTONVILLE

The Women's Home Circle club members were entertained on Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Leon Vignon. Special guests were Mrs. Ansel Sonheber, Mrs. H. L. McIntosh, Mrs. Roy Mathey, Washingtonville, and Mrs. James Edwards and Miss Hermena Mcnning of Salem. Contests were the evening's diversions and honors were won by Miss Grace Weikart, Mrs. C. H. Weikart and Mrs. H. L. McIntosh. The hostess served lunch. In two weeks the club will be entertained in the home of Mrs. C. R. Taylor.

Mrs. Celesta Lewis of Leetonia, is a guest in the home of Mrs. Hannah Stouffer.

Mrs. Charity Roller returned to her home here after spending several days in the home of her son Roy Roller and family at East Palestine.

Roy Shimer and family have moved into the Ashley property, near the school building.

The Ladies of the Methodist church had an all-day sewing at the church on Wednesday, making preparations for their annual bazaar and chicken supper which will be held on Saturday evening, Nov. 22.

Howard Russell and George Kennedy, Salem, spent Friday afternoon with Harley Woods, who has been ill.

The Christmas entertainment committee of Trinity Lutheran Sunday school met at the church on Friday evening. Plans were made for a cantata which will be rendered at Christmas time.

Mrs. Herbert Smedley and daughter, Mrs. Layton DeLawter, visited Mrs. James DeLawter, who is ill at East Rochester, on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Davis and daughters, and Miss Clara Weikart were Tuesday visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hannay at Salem.

Mrs. Glenn McNeelan and Mrs. Curtis Grindle attended a bridge party in the home of Miss Jane Hunt at Salem on Thursday evening.

A large number of visitors attended assembly at the school on Wednesday morning. The fifth grade taught by Miss Kruger, gave an interesting program.

The condition of Mrs. Anna Culler, who is ill, is unimproved.

Mrs. Moses Grindle was injured in her home on Friday when she tripped on a rug, falling against the door. She received cuts and bruises about her head and face.

Mrs. Thomas Murphy is visiting with relatives in West Virginia.

NEW WATERFORD

Church societies meeting this week included the Methodist W. F. M. S. which convened with Mrs. C. B. Williams on Tuesday night; the Carrie Barge meeting with Mrs. S. E. McCune on Thursday evening; the Lutheran Ladies' society which was entertained by Mrs. William Springer on Thursday when the study of the women of the Bible was continued; the Presbyterian Missionary society with Miss Anna Bevan on Thursday afternoon and the Ladies Aid with Mrs. W. G. Hisey that evening.

On Sunday evening at 7:30, the three local churches will unite in an Armistice Day service in the Methodist church. A union choir will furnish the music. There will be a speaker, and the program will follow the suggestions of the World Peace commission of the M. E. church.

The Home Economics classes prepared and served a two-course dinner at 6 p. m. on Thursday to the members of the New Waterford school board, Superintendent Leonard and Gray of the county school personnel, and the teachers of the local school. The dinner was followed by a board meeting.

Wednesday was visiting day for the teachers here.

Mrs. H. H. Hart was hostess to the Tuesday Evening Bridge club this week, with three tables of bridge in play. Guests were Mrs. Charles Atkinson of East Palestine; Mrs. S. E. McCune; Miss Jean Lytle and Miss Evelyn Johnston. Mrs. Atkinson won the guest prize. Players' prizes were won by Mrs. John H. Koch and Mrs. Curtis Sitler.

Grove Cagers Want Pre-Season Game

Football season isn't over yet but basketball is already making its appearance in Salem.

Practices have been held by players planning to participate in city league competition this fall and winter for the past two weeks and now come the first challenge of the year.

Eddie Tressler, manager of the E. E. Grove Electric company team, today issued a defy at the Golden Eagle cage quintet, asking for a pre-season game to be played between the two teams at Memorial gym next week.

The Electrics and Golden Eagles both have been working out regularly and will enter the Salem Class A municipal league.

Tressler hurled the challenge at Max Caplan, Golden Eagle manager, and asks a reply through The News.

WORLD'S CHAMP TO BATTLE IN CANTON SHOW

Maxie Rosenbloom Meets Patsy Perroni In Non-Title Mix

CANTON, Nov. 8—Northeastern Ohio fight bugs get their first glimpse of Maxie Rosenbloom, world light-heavyweight champion, in the auditorium arena here on the night of Monday, Nov. 17. The occasion is a ten-round battle between the champion and Patsy Perroni of Canton, a youngster who has been stepping along rapidly and should be a big shot in the heavyweight class within two years.

Rosenbloom's 175-pound title will not be at stake, as he would not sign for the match with the rugged young Cantonian except with the stipulation that Perroni enter the ring at 177 pounds or over. erroni, still a legitimate light-heavy, can make 175 with ease but grabbed the chance to face a champion even though the mill does not bring him a title shot.

Although not yet old enough to vote by a couple of years, Perroni has been in the professional fight game for several years and has made steady progress. He is a product of the amateur sport here and made his professional debut as a middleweight. He has acquired considerable skill and packs a terrific punch in both right and left. In recent months he has been fighting among the heavies.

Four other bouts have been lined up for the show to include boys from Dover, Akron, East Liverpool, Canton and Wilkes-Barre, Pa. The carries a total of 38 rounds.

it's a good time to refurnish the home
A man's idea about a house is that once it's furnished, it's furnished. Of course it's silly and any woman knows that isn't true. The government a few years ago made a study of the expenditures of a number of families with three children. Presumably all of them had their houses fairly equipped. And yet it was found that out of each $100 spent by the family, $4.40 went each year for furniture. There are always things to be purchased for the house. That's why this store sells thousands of dollars worth of fine, fashionable furniture and home furnishings each year.
Right now is a good time to consider one's furniture requirements. Prices of furniture have been reduced more than any other item in the family budget. They are the lowest since the war.
You are invited to inspect our displays. Make a survey of prices and qualities and we feel sure that you will agree that no store in this section is selling smart furniture at such low prices. Remember, we are open every evening until nine.

Show windows of the world
MR. KIPLING to the contrary, East does meet West—in the advertising pages . . . British cutlery and Chinese porcelains. French furniture and Persian rugs. Marble from Italy and ivory from India. Coffee from Brazil and tea from Ceylon. . . . Products from every corner of the earth come to you in the advertisements. They are the show windows of the world.
Without leaving the arm-chair in your own living room, you can pass from an Oriental bazaar to a breakfast food factory in Battle Creek—and back again. The journey is fraught with color and romance. You learn something of far-away lands and peoples—of periods and patterns. You begin to understand problems of craftsmanship and processes of manufacture.
And you learn value. You realize that products consistently advertised are the finest of their kind. When you go to buy, you know exactly what you want, how much it should cost, where to find it and what to ask for. . . . You same time and money by shopping in the world's show windows.

Court Urges Prompt Action To Reduce Cases On Docket

Judge W. S. Slocum Of Painesville To Assist For Two Weeks

LISBON, Nov. 8.—When the assignment for common pleas court was issued this morning, and Judge W. F. Lones announced that Judge W. S. Slocum of Painesville, would assist him for two weeks beginning Nov. 17, the court said:

"Beginning Nov. 17, it is expected that all cases assigned will be tried, settled or dismissed when reached. Numerous cases have been assigned this term, but while several equity suits have been heard, only a few jury cases have been tried, because when reached the parties were not ready.

"Now that Labor day, the county fair, Columbus day, Hallowe'en and the election has passed into history and by Nov. 17 the fall term of the court of appeals will be over, there will be nothing to prevent counsel from being ready for trial in all cases assigned. Counsel are asked upon receipt of the new assignment to get in touch with clients and prepare cases and get ready for trial. During the remainder of the term, cases must be tried when reached. Cases will not be passed by agreement. Those heretofore passed by agreement have been passed to the heel of the docket. As the court of appeals will be in session the week of Nov. 10, common pleas court will be in session only on Monday and Friday forenoon.

The assignment follows:

In Talkie Role

Buster Keaton is starred in the comedy "Doughboys" at the State next week.

Comedy week will be observed at the State and Grand theaters for six days starting Monday with appearance at these playhouses of four of the year's outstanding humorous talkies. Buster Keaton, Cliff Edwards, Spencer Tracy, William Haines, Polly Moran, Ted Healy and other noted comic characters are included in the casts of the productions.

"Doughboys," rated as Buster Keaton's greatest comedy in talking, starts the week at the State, playing there Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. While this picture is being shown at that playhouse, the Grand features, on the same three days, "Up the River," a burlesue on the dramatic vehicle, "The Big House," which appeared here last week.

William Haines, Polly Moran and Cliff Edwards take leading roles in "Way Out West," a new type of humorous comedy with a thrilling adventurous and romantic background. This production shows at the State Thursday, Friday and Saturday. "Soup to Nuts", another laugh-evoking affair is at the Grand three days starting Thursday.

The Royal in a double attraction shows the only straight drama of the week, showing "What Men Want" is a picture based on a flaming youth story written by Warner Fabian and is based on the supposedly alluring and vivacious present-day life in society's fast young set. Pauline Starke, Barbara Kent and Ben Lyon are the stars.

Sally Eilers and Cliff Edwards support Buster Keaton in "Doughboys" and once again Edwards cops all honors. "Soup to Nnts" is taken from comedy strips by Rube Goldeberg.

Besides the feature comedies the two theaters show a series of humorous sketches, the State having scheduled "Who Killed Rover?" "Mickey's Warriors," a Revue and Cartoon while the Grand shows "Despondent Sam" and "His Honor, the Mayor."

"Love in the Rough" with Benny Rubin furnishing the laughs and Robert Montgomery and Dorothy Jordan the romance, plays at the Grand tonight. The State shows "Lilliom" with Charles Farrell starring while "Parade of the West" is at the Royal.

AUSTIN, TEX.—Just when complaints of laws delays had led the state of Texas to consider an amendment to its constitution keeping its supreme court in session 12 months a year instead of nine, the court acted on 290 cases at one sitting. While the court was in vacation, the judges had been working.

LASKER AND MACAULAY.
ANOTHER HAWKS' RECORD.
IDLE DOLLARS, IDLE MEN

By Arthur Brisbane

(Copyrignt 1930 By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Albert D. Lasker, now too rich to care about more money, devoted himself to spreading useful thought, including "Macaulay's essay on Couthey's Colloquies on Society."

What Mcaulay had to say just 100 years ago in the Edinburgh Review, ought to be read by every gloomy American and Briton as well.

In 1830, after the Napoleonic wars, Europe was prostrate with disaster and debt. But the debt that then seemed unpayable, mulitplied by ten, would be only a joke today.

It is true that the battle of Waterloo was followed by the introduction of steam power, with its undreamed of industry and riches.

But, if the world of 1830 had steam, this age has electricity, mass production, and high wages, making possible mass consumption.

Let any business man in the dumps write to Albert D. Lasker, Chicago, and ask him for a copy of that Macaulay essay.

Captain Hawks, American's champion flier, goes on establishing records while others talk.

He has just flown from New York to Havana in 9 hours, 21 minutes, including stops of 23 minutes at Jacksonville, and 20 minutes at Miami. This trip means leaving New York after breakfast and getting to Havana in time for a swim before dinner. Hawks' flight average, 182 miles an hour, cut the record from 14 hours to 9 hours 21 minutes.

He nopes to lower that on the return journey.

Those who believe that the recent vote against prohibition means a change in the Volstead law should bear in mind the fact that the house of representatives now holds about 133 wets against 302 drys.

What 133 can do against 302 is all that the late election will do against prohibition.

However, if three or four of the biggest states in the Union are really determined not to have prohibition they won't have it. But the best that they can hope for, probably, is bootleg liquor based on ignoring the law.

Since the slump began, savings bank deposits have increased many hundreds of millions.

Thrift, when wise, is admirable. When it represents only vague fear it is harmful and destructive.

Idle dollars mean idle men.

He who will not buy somebody else's goods, if he has the money, will find somebody else unwilling to buy his services.

The employer content to talk platitudes while laying off men is cutting his own throat financially and will realize it.

"To convince others be yourself convinced." Billy Sunday coming back to wicked New York City for one day, is as convincing as he ever was. The temple where he battled with the devil and "king booze, the most awful scourge of America," was crawded and many more turned away.

Billy Sunday's devil is a real one, with hoofs made of horn, a real

PEACE ORATORS TO COMPETE AT CHURCH SUNDAY

Rev. Sidney Mayer, Methodist Pastor, Outlines Arrangements

FIVE STUDENTS IN LOCAL CONTEST

Winner Will Enter Finals In Columbiana County Competition

The annual peace declamation contest for Salem students will be held at the First Methodist church at 7:30 p. m. Sunday, Rev. Sidney A. Mayer, pastor, announced today.

The contest is being held in this city in conjunction with similar events throughout the state under the auspices of the Ohio Council of Churches. Declamations presented by the contestants have been prepared by leading advocates in the cause of international peace.

Five Salem High school students, three boys and two girls, will compete in the contests at the church. The winner will receive a bronze medal from the Ohio Council of Churches and will compete in finals in the Columbiana county competition.

Students and their subjects are: James West, "The Sword and the Cup"; Louise Hixenbaugh, "The World is My Country"; Paul Smith, "The Strategy of Foch"; Rena Kaminsky, "Tell It to the Last Man," and John McConnell, "Hating War."

Judges will be Franklin F. Wells, Mrs. Guy E. Byers and J. C. Guiler.

Special musical will be played by the church school orchestra under the direction of C. M. Brautigan.

MERGER BATTLE ENDS IN COURT

Mass Of Testimony Submitted To Judge David Jenkins

(By Associated Press)

YOUNGSTOWN, Nov. 8. — The battle of attorneys is over and whether the merger of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. with the Bethlehem Steel corporation is consummated today was up to Common Pleas Judge David Jenkins.

Three weeks of summations of the months of testimony ended at a special session of court last night amid the jubilations of attorneys whose labors have compiled volumes of testimony.

Judge Jenkins, whose decision will decide one of the bitterest struggles of the steel industry and determine the fate off a billion dollar merger, today plunged into consideration of testimony, which, in his own words, makes "a stack as high as my head." He expected to require at least six weeks to come to a conclusion, pointing out that besides the maze of issues involved he has no precedent to guide him.

He said he "will not be seeking merely for an answer as to whether this merger shall or shall not be approved. The important questions of a commercial, business and economic nature are involvd."

LEETONIA MAY EXTEND LIMITS

Initial Steps Are Taken By Council Members To Create New Village Boundaries

COLUMBIANA, Nov. 8.—Initial steps towards the extension of Columbiana village limits were taken at a meeting of council here this week.

Council plans to annex territory located to the north of the village, action on the project being taken at request of property-owners in that area. The new village boundaries, according to council's plans, will extend to the Mahoning-Columbiana county line.

Council granted the board of affairs permission to drill a well on land leased south of the village. Tests will be conducted.

Lisbon Post Plans 1931 County Rally

LISBON, Nov. 8.—John J. Welsh Post American Legion of Lisbon will not sponsor an Armistice Day observance this year, it was announced today by Post Commander Lynn R. Riddle.

Plans are now being worked out by this post for a general observance in 1931, which will take the form of a county-wide celebration, with Legion posts from other towns and cities in the district participating.

2,641 Enrolled In Schools In October

Enrollment at Salem public schools was 2,641 during the school month ending on October 31, J. S. Alan, superintendent, announced in his monthly report today.

There were 1,331 boys and 1,310 girls enrolled during the month. The high school figures reached a new high mark, 734, while in junior high 468 pupils are listed.

A total of 2,050 students had records of perfect attendance while only 47 were tardy.

Prospect school had the best attendance record, 98.44 per cent.

HARY S. BECK, AGED 75, DIES

Funeral Services Will Be Held At Lutes Home Monday

Harry Shannon Beck, 75, of 846 East State street, resident off this city for more than 30 years, died at Salem City hospital following an illness of complications of diseases about 4:30 p. m. Friday.

Mr. Beck had been a moulder for more than 50 years and was a member of the International Moulders' Union of North America. He was also a member of the Deming Company Relief association, the Deluge Hose company and the First Baptist church of Sharon, Pa.

He is survived by one son, C. E. Beck of Salem; two daughters, Mrs. A. M. Poole of this city, and Miss Ethel Beck of Alliance. Three brothers, Charles W. Beck and Frank D. Beck, both of Youngstown; Cramer Beck of Akron, and four sisters, Mrs. T. C. Whitehouse of Youngstown; Mrs. H. C. Irwin of Sacremento, Calif.; Mrs. Harry Tinker off Denver, Colo., and Mrs. Grace Geggus, Cleveland, also survive together with seven grandchildren and five greatgrandchildren.

Funeral service, scheduled at 2 p. m. Monday at the Arnold P. Lutes funeral home, East State street, will be in charge of Rev. D. D. Palmer of Warren, a nephew of the deceased. Interment in Grandview cemetery.

Friends may call at the Lutes funeral home between 7 and 9 p. m. Sunday.

Program Is Given By Luther League

There was a large attendance Friday evening at the entertainment given by members of the Luther League at the Emmanuel Lutheran church.

Numbers on the program included selections by the orchestra of the First Friends church; playlet, "Medlin';" vocal duet by Elizabeth Buchfelner and Tillie Fernengel; accordion solo, Mary Schuster; violin solo, Rosina Shell; selection by a quartet composed of Leonard Krauss, Ernest Rutsky, Clarence Schmid and John Krauss; piano solo, Isabel Jones; and playlet, "The Telegram."

G. O. P. CAMPAIGN CHIEF EXPLAINS BALLOT LOSSES

Disturbed Economic Conditions, Says Lewis, Prompts Vote

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS, Nov. 8.—Senator Roscoe C. McCulloch and Governor Cooper were defeated at last Tuesday's election because of "unemployment and disturbed economic conditions" and not because the voters were protesting against the records and accomplishments of the two Republican leaders, Earl R. Lewis, manager of the Republican state campaign, declared in a statement issued here today.

"Governor Cooper was defeated beyond a shadow of a doubt because of unemployment and disturbed economic conditions, for the relief of which he was doing more than any other governor," said Lewis. "It is perfectly clear that nowhere was there a protest vote against Governor Cooper's administration as such.

"People are out of jobs and the first thing that is thought of, under such circumstances, is a political change in the chief executive's office and in the offices represented in the national and state legislative bodies."

Lewis said Ohio "is still a Republican state" and that "the obstacles which we encountered at this election will disappear with the inevitable return of economic improvement, and hence, we face 1932 with confidence and optimism."

POLICE QUELL STUDENT RIOT

Pitt and Carnegie Supporters Celebrate Roughly; 76 Are Arrested

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8—Thirty-nine Cargenie Tech and 37 University of Pittsburgh students were under arrest today after members of the student bodies of both institutions had given police much to worry about as a prelude to the annual Pitt-Carnegie football game in Pitt stadium today.

The Pitt students ran afoul of the law late yesterday. The police thought they had their hands full in curbing the high spirits of the Panther supporters, but the Pitt demonstration was as nothing compared with the Carnegie students' celebration early today.

Pollock Is Winner

YOUNGSTOWN, Nov. 8—Judge John W. Pollock of Belmont county was re-elected to the court of appeals, seventh district, by a plurality of 30,000 votes over his two opponents, a tabulation of returns from the 14 counties involved showed today. Totals were Pollock 78,855; Carl Armstrong, Youngstown, 49,330; Joseph Cook, Ashtabula, 37,153. Cook was defeated for the same office two years ago. Judge Pollock carried 11 of the 14 counties this year.

POTTERY HEADS MEET TUESDAY IN CLEVELAND

Frank H. Sebring To Be Second Vice President Of Association

WILL SET DATE FOR WAGE PARLEY

J. M. Wells Of Newell To Give Labor Committee Report

Manufacturers of ceramic ware from Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana, New Jersey and Pennsylvania will attend the 52nd annual meeting of the United States Potters' association which will convene in Hotel Hollendon in Cleveland next Tuesday.

Frank H. Sebring, president and general manager of the Salem China company, and Floyd W. McKee, secretary-treasurer of the Salem company, will attend the meeting. Sebring, third vice-president, will be elevated to second vice president to succeed Homer J. Taylor of the American Chinaware corporation. Taylor, in turn, will be advanced to the first vice presidency, at present occupied by James M. Smith, president of the Shenango Pottery company at New Castle, Pa.

Set Date For Parley

The pottery owners will set a date and place for renewal of the biennial wage conference with representatives of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters. The conference will probably be held next month in Cleveland or Pittsburgh.

George C. Thompson of East Liverpool will be toastmaster at the banquet which will be held Tuesday night while in the afternoon a special executive session will be held which is expected to call together more than 75 representatives of general pottery ware manufacturers from all sections of North America. A feature of the opening day business schedule will be the report of the labor committee of which Joseph M. Wells of the Homer Laughlin China company, East Liverpool, is chairman.

Banquet On Tuesday

Wells will discuss the general wage conference which was held last summer in Atlantic City, N. J., in which agreements with the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters were extended until January 1, 1931.

Charles L. Sebring of Sebring is chairman of the reception and entertainment committee in charge of arrangements for Tuesday's banquet. The program will include six talks, five of which will be made by pottery executives.

Wednesday's sessions will be held primarily for active members of the association. Officers will be elected Wednesday afternoon.

PASTORS WILL AID RED CROSS

Mercy Work Will Be Lauded In Salem Pulpits Sunday

Calling attention especially to the series of Red Cross broadcasts sponsored by the national organization, Mrs. Myra B. Woodruff, executive secretary of the local chapter of the American Red Cross, today announced that the annual roll call is well under way in Salem.

Broadcasts are scheduled tonight at 6:15 and 7:45, Mrs. Woodruff points out.

The campaign has already been launched in several of the city's industrial plants. Special reference to the worthiness of the movement will be made from the pulpits of local churches Sunday.

City Is Granted Leave To Answer

LISBON, Nov. 8.—In the $10,000 damage action filed against the city of Salem, by Ruth E. Wilson, July 22 last, the court has granted the city of Salem leave to plead at once.

R. A. Baker, who was sued before Justice John W. Riley of Wellsville, by Earl D. Jarvis to recover $15 claimed to be owning for work and labor, has appealed his case to common pleas. A judgment for $13 and costs was returned in the lower court in favor of Jarvis.

An appraisment has been set aside and an alias order of sale has been entered by the court in the partition action filed July 12, 1929, by William G. Bortner against Charles E. Bortner and others.

In the appeal case of Martin McGregor against Burt Capel, leave has been granted the defendant to file an answer to the petition at once.

Short Term Congress Ready For Emergency Legislation

Government Heads Seek Passage Of Appropriation Bills Before March 4; Night Sessions Loom

By CECIL B. DICKSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8—The administration plans to concentrate on enactment of emergency legislation and important pending measures at the short term of the present congress beginning Dec. 1.

Turning attention from the election, the government heads have determined to make every effort to secure passage of the nine great annual appropriation bills by next March 4, to avoid a special session of the newly elected congress.

Should any of these supply bills fail of passage President Hoover would be forced to convene the new congress, the control of which remains in doubt or the government agencies not provided for would have to suspend business at the close of the fiscal year, June 30, 1931.

70-Day Session

The short session is for three months, but the legislative days probably will not exceed 10, in view of the usual two weeks of Christmas holidays and the Sundays. Night sessions of both houses are almost inevitable to complete the business.

President Hoover is known to be anxious that the present congress dispose of Muscle Shoals. At present legislation for this is deadlocked in conference between the senate, which approved government operation, and the house, which sanctioned sale to private interests.

The vast naval construction program under the London treaty is to be formulated. It may call for an outlay of three-quarters of a billion dollars.

Plan Unemployment Relief

Unemployment legislation probably will be one of the administration's greatest concerns. It also will be faced by a farm relief program sponsored by export debenture advocates in both branches.

There is a strong possibility President Hoover will recommend some changes in the legislation that formed the farm board and its $500,000,000 loan fund. It has been the subject of attack from many quarters.

The president has been represented as most desirous of passage at the coming session of the motor bus regulation bill which forms the unfinished business in the senate; the Wickersham proposals for relief of congestion in federal courts, and the proposal for a unified border patrol. All these have been passed by the house.

BLAST TOLL 82, CHECK REVEALS

Emergency Crews Continue Exploration Of Tunnels

(By Associated Press)

MILLFIELD, Nov. 8—A re-check of the dead in Wednesday's gas blast at No. 6 mine of the Sunday Creek Coal company disclosed the death toll was 82 instead of 83 as previously reported officials announced today.

A check of the figures and names of the victims disclosed that Walter Hayden superintendent of the mine, had been counted twice, once with the official party of nine, which included the president of the mine company, and again in the list of mine workers, they said.

Emergency crews of the company continued the exploration of the labyrinth of tunnels in the mine today in an effort to ascertain if there were other miners still entombed.

The officials of the coal company announced that a fund of $9,000 had been set aside at the mine for the burial committee of the miners. The widow of each victim receives a check for $112.50 as soon as an application for compensation is made, the money being set aside for funeral and burial of the victims, the officials said.

Alliance Singer At Services Here

Mrs. Percy Bottomley of Alliance, contralto, will furnish special music at the service Sunday morning at the Christian church. Rev. C. F. Evans will preach on the subject, "What's the Use of Being a Christian?" This is the fourth sermon in a series on "What's the Use in Religion?"

Pickrel Lead Cut

COLUMBUS, Nov. 8.—Discovery of an error in the Mahoning county vote for William Piskerel, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor of Ohio, today cut Pickerl's lead to 632 votes, according to Secretary of State Clarence Brown. The unofficial figures, gathered by the secretary, and including the correct Mahoning vote gave Pickrel a total of 916,554; John T. Brown, Republican, 915,922.

CLUBS, LODGES TO AID IN PROGRAM

Appropriate Sermons Are Listed In Churches On Sunday

Homage will be paid by the city of Salem next Tuesday to World war heroes as patriotic organizations, service clubs, city officials and lodges join in observance of the twelfth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice.

While the day has been especially set aside for the celebration of the signing of the pact which established international peace after years of warefare, tribute will be paid throughout the country as well, to mothers and widows of those who died in action.

Members of the G. A. R. in Salem, numbering a few surviving veterans of the Civil war, will also receive honors which the city's residents will bestow on that day. The occasion will be marked by an impressive spirit of solemnity as thoughts revert back to war days.

Services At Cemetery

Members of Charles H. Carey post, No. 56, American Legion, will have charge of the day's celebration which will start Tuesday morning with services at the grave of Charles Carey, first Salem youth to lose his life during the war. Members of Allen K. Reynolds post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will honor the memory of Allen Reynolds, for whom the post was named.

Gold star mothers and widows and the Civil war veterans will be provided transportation in the parade which will form in front of the Legion home, East State street, at 1:30 p. m. Salem High school and Quaker City bands, school children, patriotic organizations and various lodges and clubs will participate in the parade.

Factories, with the exception of a few departments, will be closed during the afternoon. Bells will toll and whistles will blow at 11 a. m. in commemoration of the hour at which warfare was stilled on November 11, 1919.

In the evening a banquet will be held for former service men at the

Rev. Sidney Mayer To Hold Services

Rev. Sidney A. Mayer, pastor of the First Methodist church here, will officiate at the services at the grave of Charles Carey. A salute will be fired by the Legion firing squad.

Edward C. Ramette, professor of French at Mount Union college, will be the speaker at the banquet at the Legion home. Ramette served with the French army for three years during the World war. The banquet will be limited to ex-service men, all of whom are invited whether they are members of the Legion post or not.

Mrs. Emma Shontz Dies In Leetonia

Mrs. Emma Shontz, 77, widow of Joseph Shontz, died at 9:45 p. m. Saturday at her home, 480 Columbia street, Leetonia.

Mrs. Shontz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Nold, was born Aug. 7, 1853, east of Columbiana. She was one of the oldest members of the Lutheran church.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Henry Hammerly, and Sarah at home; one son, Harry of Port Washington, Long Island; two granddaughters, Ruth and Elizabeth Sharp; two sisters, Mrs. E. E. Morgan of St. Petersburgh, Fla., and Mrs. Elizabeth Phillips of Chicago.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Monday at the home in charge of Dr. H. C. Brillhart. Burial will be in Oakdale cemetery.

OPENING SHOTS

Senator Frederick H. Gillett of Massachusetts fired another of the opening shots in the campaign to secure support of the world court by the United States Friday at Mt. Holyoke college, where he spoke during the founder's day exercises celebrating the 93d anniversary of the establishment of the college. Senator Gillett has been an ardent proponent of American support for the court and is expected to be a leader in the senatorial discussions on the proposition this winter, if the lame duck senate decides to give time to the matter.

Assuming that widespread ignorance concerning the purposes of the court and its procedures exist, as indeed they do, Senator Gillett devoted the most of his speech yesterday to statements which answered prejudices against the court that might arise naturally from ignorance. "We are not risking much in helping to establish a court which can never try us except on our request . . . the court has no original jurisdiction; it cannot bind us by any judgment unless we have voluntarily submitted the case to its consideration . . . . . adherence to the court does not make us in any sense members of the League of Nations . . . the court is the practical outstanding possibility toward judicial settlement of world problems." Thus ran the general tone of the senator's arguments against popular misconceptions of the court's functions and power.

The case for American support of the court which Senator Gillett stated was summarized excellently by Chief Justice Hughes in an address before the bar association of the city of New York, Jan. 21, 1930. On that occasion Mr. Hughes concluded a long argument for American support of the court with the following paragraph:

"The judicial settlement of international disputes cannot be adequately secured by mere sporadic, occasional efforts. There should be continuity, permanency, the opportunity for the growth of confidence, and for the firm establishment of the tradition both of competency and judicial independence. As a nation devoted to the interests of peace, we have the utmost concern in this development. To hold aloof is to belie our aspirations and to fail to do our part in forming the habit of mind upon which all hopes of permanent peace depend. In supporting the world court in the manner proposed, we lose nothing that we could otherwise preserve; we take no serious risks that we could otherwise avoid; we enhance rather than impair our ultimate security; and we heighten the mutual confidence which rests on demonstrated respect for the essential institutions of international justice."

The United States has urged application of international law ever since the country was established. It has contributed materially to a world wide demand for a court which will interpret such law, and urged upon other nations the establishment of a permanent court of justice. This nation has joined 57 others in the pact of Paris, the signatories of which "condemn recourse to war for the solution of international controversies," and agree that the settlement" of all disputes of conflicts of whatever nature or of whatever origin they may be, which may arise among them, shall never be sought except by pacific means."

The world court is the outstanding pacific means.

SOBER CONTEMPLATION

It must not be denied, to be consistent in honesty, that there are numbers of people rejoicing unduly over the Democratic party's firmer hold on the national reins. Their joy, in all probability, is the kind that comes from the prospect of a change. Scores of Republicans have been pitched out of office for one reason and some good is bound to result, they believe.

The New York Herald Tribune, which would be classed as the most powerful single Republican newspaper in the nation, has surveyed the situation and settled back with the suggestion that the country stabilize its fevered imagination by sober contemplation along four lines. The Herald-Tribune's position as a party organ makes its suggestion authoritative.

First, President Hoover remains in the White House. He is able and conscientious. He may not be absolute master of the political pack, but he is fundamentally sound in his policies and can be depended upon to keep things on a basis of intelligence. Considered as a man rather than as the leader of his party, he is a dependable figure.

Second, the hue and cry about majorities in congress can be taken with a grain of salt by Republicans and Democrats alike. The slender majorities that will be present when the question of majorities is settled will be insufficient to give either party the balance of power. A practical deadlock is certain on every contested issue and there will be no opportunity to override the president's veto. For two years at least no new federal interference can arise.

Third, whatever happens to political parties the economic thought of the country is pointed in the right direction. There is agreement that there are plenty of bumps ahead but the very intensity of the present gloom is proof that dawn is on the way.

Fourth and last, America is still the wealthiest country in the world, regardless of political currents. There is wealth enough to care for those who must be cared for and the generous employment programs in operation all over the country show that it will be distributed where it is needed.

It is not a time for gloating over gains or wailing over losses. Party victories and losses can do little to alter the fendamental of American stability or postpone the certainty that business recovery will occur—and occur independently of politicians.

What Others Say

FRANCE, ITALY AND THE TREATY

Whether or not Ambassador Gibson is actually bringing France and Italy together upon naval questions, no one can fail to be struck by the new tone of the foreign cables toward the arms problem. The coming meeting of the preparatory commission on disarament is assuming an unexpected vitality; while French journalists, if not the French government, are speaking of a French adhesion to the full term of the London treaty even without Italian participation.

France and Italy are already signatories of the London treaty, but Part III of it, limiting cruiser, destroyer and submarine tonnage, does not apply to them. Either or both might ratify the present decision with small effect; the aim of the Franco-Italian negotiations has been to bring the two nations to an agreement as to their own relative needs, so that both might then negotiate new articles with the United State, England and Japan which, upon ratification, would extend cruiser and submarine limitation to all five powers.

The present suggestion—that France might agree at Geneva with the United States, England and Japan for her own inclusion in the full scope of the treaty without reference to Italy—is novel. Yet it only emphasizes the rather curious fact that no nation today is actually building a fleet which would not fit within the limits of the London treaty. By adhering to its full terms France and Italy do not stand to lose anything which they now have or expect to have in the immediate future. Their doubts are concerned only with prestige or with somewhat remote contingencies. But Europe today is a place in which such intangible advantages may be bought at too high a price.

Conditions are very different from what they were when France was cheerfully dissociating herself from the Geneva conference of 1927. The dangers of useless military rivalries are perhaps more apparent now than they were then, and it has become more desirable to avoid even the appearance of standing aloof from any common effort toward peace. It is for each nation to decide for itself when the immediate advantages of accepting a naval settlement outweigh any possible loss of future freedom which such a settlement might entail. But the situation today is one tending to accentuate the desirability of entering a settlement and to increase the dangers of trying to play a lone hand. France might well gain more through associating herself with the three other treaty powers than by standing upon the strict letter of her freedom vis-a-vis Italy. —New York Herald Tribune.

Dropsy, a Symptom of Deeper Trouble

Nature has a way of sending out wornings when anything is wrong with these bodies of ours. She runs up signals of danger. And, what is more, she provides marvelous ways of attempting to correct faults in this intricate mechanism which is the body.

Dropsy is a condition that arms us something is wrong. It is a symptom to be heeded. It is a condition in which the fluid substances of the blood escape into the soft tissues of the body, or into some cavity of the body.

The fluid may not have the same origin in every case. It may have escaped from the capillaries of the blood circulation, or from the veins, or yet again from the lymphatics. Whatever the source of the fluid, dropsy comes from pressure or obstruction of one of these circulatory systems.

When the tissues are firm they and the muscles are able to resist this flow, and the amount of dropsical fluid is relatively small. But in case of disease of the liver, for instance, the quantity of fluid in the abdominal cavity is sometimes enormous. In such a case there is nothing to do but have it drawn off by some mechanical means. Of course, such a slight operation does not effect a cure. It only serves to relieve the pressure. The underlying cause must be determined and really curative measures taken.

Your doctor will decide whether it is the liver, the kidneys, the heart or some other organ that is at fault. Many times there is found a very scanty flow of urine, as though the fluid which should naturally escape this way was dammed up. If the kidneys are not seriously diseased, the remedies which would increase their action will do much to prevent the accumulation of fluid in the abdominal cavity.

When the dropsical fluid happens to be in the ankles or eyelids, the condition is known as "cedema." If it is found all over the body it is called "anasarca." If the fluid fills one of the cavities it is know nas "dropsy". When it is the abdominal cavity it is termed "ascites."

In Bright's Disease there is failure on the part of the kidneys to function as they should. The quantity of urine is limited, and the fluids of the body escape into the soft tissues. The affected parts are swollen, of course. On pressure of the finger, the skin and underlying tissues are pitted and fail to fly back into place when released. All their natural elasticity is lost because the tissues are soggy and water soaked.

One suffering from dropsy of any sort needs the helpful oversight of a doctor. He must not trust to his own skill. By correcting any organic defects and the building up of the health by careful diet, the right sort of exercise, sleep and rest the return to a normal condition is only a matter of time. But persistent dropsical conditions should not be neglected.

NEW YORK Day by Day

by O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—For three months a very British attache of a riding academy has been teasing me to become a pupil. I held my temper over his insinuations my liver needed a shaking up and so many feared to ride on account of the handicap of age.

But his sneer, "The very best people invariably ride!" got me. You'd think I live across the tracks in the hollow so I told him to bring on his mustang and added testily I desired a mount that was spirited. Nobody can goad me!

As a matter of fact I was brought up in the saddle. It was only a muckledun coloured pony with the heaves, but it had its moments. There is an old saying on the range that one who has learned to swim or ride a horse never forgets either. And that—he that it is—was comforting.

So I scrambled out at daylight, the morning sky chiffoned in pink, tra. la. for the first lesson and in my butterbean shaped riding pants and blue flannel shirt taxied to the academy. The mount was a mare named Julia and as she frisked out of the stall her glance was not particularly affectionate.

A groom they called Erbert led her to a mounting block which was circled by a group of grinning hostlers. I tried to nuzzle my face against Julia's—you know, the old horseman—but she would have none of me, jerked her head away and began pawing at the ground.

There was nothing to do but straddle her. The instructor suggested I let her have her head. He was the sort you see at the hunts who ride hell-for-leather and cry "Heigh, ho, the fox!" without batting an eyelash. After cantering a short space along he observed: "A little forward. You are doing fine."

But something got into Julia. My reply was something like this: "I—glub, glub—haven't been on—whca, Julia!—the back of a—glubbity, glub, glub—horse for more than—nice Julia!—twenty years. This saddle—erkity-ork—is a little—For God's sake stop her!"

As I flashed under one of the bridges spanning the bridle path of Central Park I heard a roughneck on his way to work call out: "Old Tom Mix in person!"

Every now and then Julia, the hussy, would twist her neck around to see if I happened to be still there, and indulge a fresh spurt. Once I caught a glimpse of the instructor who was by my side placidly enough, gazing casually here and there at the beauties of the early morning. He seemed totally unconscious his pupil was on a runaway wild horse. As I would go up in the air it didn't appear so bad but when I came down—O, baby!

There is a saying none is so calm as one flirting with disaster. In all the hoopla the strangest thoughts raced through what I facetiously call my brain. I thought of good old Guy Campbell and how his bridgework held up under terrific strain. Flashing by the tall Egyptian obelisk I wondered if H. T. Webster was still smoking that pipe that would gag a buzzard. There was what was left of the Hotel Majestic—a hole in the ground! And Copeland Townsend, a rare soul, gathered to his fathers. There was deserted Columbus Circle and perhaps my last view of it. And on and on we thundered in a thud of flying hoofs, Julia, the soandso, and I. And that damned snippet of an instructor.

Once in rounding the turn near the Plaza—for the 118th time I think—I even smiled wanly. It was over a remark of my wife's, poor soul nearing widowhood. At dinner last night I called her attention to a fashion article that fingernails were being blackened. She replied: "You have been partly in style all your life." If she could just see her chalk white husband now, she'd regret that crack!

I really don't know what happened to Julia, unless she just wore herself out, but her mad gallop slowed down to a trot. And I sit on a trot even worse than a gallop. But I finally brought her to a full stop in a lather of streaming foam. "Quite a canter!" remarked old fuzzy-wuzzy, but I quit speaking to him long ago.

And if I get through the next three or four days without breaking in two, look out for a swell puff for Paul Revere. There was a boy!

The Stars Say —

For Sunday, November 9

Sunday's horoscope is not a very important one, excepting that affairs of church, clergy and charity may move into progressive groove. The frame of mind may not be happy one, leaning toward criticism, sarcasm, irritability and bickering. If turned to mystical or occult preoccupations it may find gratification.

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a fairly prosperous year, with some success and advancement, but there must be a determination not to let disputes, turbulences and sarcastic speech mar these prospects.

A child born on this day may be fairly prosperous and progressive, but should no imperil its prospects by indulgence in rash and hasty conduct and sarcastic speech. With care it may win out by diplomacy and shrewdness and aggressiveness.

This machine at Syracuse, N. Y., is being operated by two men to plant trees at the rate of about 10 acres a day, the trees being planted six feet apart. Two rows are laid down simultaneously, the hole being dug and the soil pressed around the shoot by the machine. Since the machine is said to reduce the cost of planting from $8 to $10 an acre to approximately $3.50 an acre, it is expected to revolutionize the work of reforestation.

AGAIN "RAGS" MAKES HIS MARK

ALIMONY SUIT IS DISMISSED

Rulings Listed In Other Common Pleas Divorce Cases

LISBON, Nov. 8—The alimony action recently filed in common pleas court by Mary Joy against her husband, Harold C. Joy, has been dismissed on motion of the plaintiff, and at her costs.

On the ground of extreme cruelty, a divorce decree has been obtained by Irene Green against her husband, Emanuel Green, and upon the payment of the costs. This case was not contested.

Gross neglect of duty and habitual drunkenness for more than three years was set up in the divorce petition filed by Elizabeth Barber against her husband, Wilson I. Barber, and a decree was granted Mrs. Barber. Custody of minor children has been awarded the mother.

In the divorce petition filed by Mary L. Pollock against her husband, Raymond T. Pollock, grounds of action were given as extreme cruelty and gross neglect of duty. A decree has been obtained by the plaintiff, and the custody of a minor child awarded Mrs. Pollock. A decree for alimony will be incorporated in the journal entry.

Although the divorce petition of Elizabeth J. Miller against her husband was filed July 18, the case was not called for trial until Friday, when, in an uncontested trial, the plaintiff was granted a decree on the grounds of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty. The decree was issued upon the payment of the costs.

After Nellie Jackson was granted a divorce from her husband, Verne Jackson, of 221 West Fourth street, Erie, Pa. on the ground of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty, the court barred the defendant from any dower right in the property of the plaintiff. This case was filed July 26 last, and constructive service was obtained on the defendant by advertising.

COLUMBIANA

Mrs. Harry McBride and Mrs. C. E. Smith were hostesses Wednesday night to members of the Young Ladies' Bible class of the Presbyterian Sunday school, the occasion being the birthday anniversary of the teacher, Mrs. Smith, and the 15th anniversary of her joining the church. Twenty-four members and four visitors were present. A lunch was served by a "waitress," who later proved to be Miss Mable Strohecker. The business session was in charge of the president, Mrs. G. G. Pinkerton. Mrs. Ruth Lehman was elected treasurer, to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Amanda Graham, resigned. Mrs. Clarence Park will entertain at the December meeting.

The Scrosis society met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. W. H. Britten, South Main street, with "Russia" as the theme. The members responded to roll call by naming famous Russians. Mrs. Isaiah Mowen gave a paper on "Russia of the Romanoffs," and Mrs. Edward Bierman one on "Russia of the Revolution." Mrs. Evan Roller gave a report of the Russian opera, "Sadke." The next meeting, Nov. 19, will be at the home of Mrs. Clarence Shontz, and the program will continue the study of "Russia."

Entertain Club

Mrs. C. L. Stacy and Mrs. S. E. Tidd entertained members of the Rosemont club and a few guests Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Tidd, the affair being arranged as a "Hard Time" party. Four tables of bridge were in play and refreshments were served in a unique manner, appropriate to the nature of the event.

Mrs. Robert Benninghoff was hostess Tuesday evening to 14 members of her Sunday school class. This was the first social meeting and the following officers were elected: President, Miriam Forbes; vice president, Lucille Dieffenbacher; secretary, Mercy Davidson; treasurer, Vivian Mitchell. Games and contests were enjoyed, after which a lunch was served by the hostess.

The Columbiana Rotarians will vary their usual program Monday evening in two ways. One, the location, the meeting being held at the Rogers Community hall, the supper to be served by the ladies of the Rogers M. E. church, and second, the program, which will include a debate by Rev. C. E. Krumm and Attorney H. W. Hammond.

Plan Special Services

The third of the series of special Sunday services in connection with the Loyalty Crusade, will be observed tomorrow as "Founder's Day." The evening service will be "Old Hymn Night."

Changes Planned In Work Of Welfare Groups In State

Legislation Prepared For Next Session Of Legislature

COLUMBUS, Nov. 8.—A movement is being launched for the reorganization of county welfare machinery in Ohio, according to an announcement made today by the Ohio Institute, a welfare organization, here.

Legislation, according to the announcement, has been prepared for introduction, at the next session of legislature, of new movements in charitable endeavor, and the perfection of many old ones. The principal bill is to allow the counties to centralize their welfare services in a single county welfare department. This bill is the product of several conferences attended by a group of community fund leaders, local officials from various parts of the state, and representatives of the State Department of Welfare, Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, Ohio Public Health Association, Ohio League of Women Voters, Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs and the Ohio Institute.

The proposed bill permits, but does not require, any county to establish a department of welfare to take over the various institutions and relief and correctional activities which are now scattered among seven or eight separate county boards and officials. Together these services are costing Ohio counties over $15,000,000 a year, the committee finds, and are the second largest item in county expenditures. At least 50,000 persons, it is estimated, are dependent in whole or in part on counties for support.

Among activities which would be placed in the county welfare department are the county home, tuberculosis hospital, children's home and blind relief. At the option of the juvenile court, the department would serve as the agent of the court in handling mothers' pensions and juvenile dependency and probation work.

The departments would be headed by an unpaid board of welfare appointed by the county commissioners, and a director chosen by the board.

spear, and a genuine hell with fire and brimstone.

It is refreshing to see and hear somebody who really believes something.

At the Columbia university club a gentleman who lives in New York's Park avenue, right where the rents are highest, asks the president "to urge cancelling all of the debts." He wants somebody to take the lead in that.

That has already been done by several European nations. If cancelling debts as the gentleman suggests, would "spur prosperity's return," prosperity ought to be coming back now, on the run.

Why not suggest cancelling the debts and sending over ten billions more, just to make sure of prosperity?

Or would it be a better idea to take the money, if we can get it, since they owe it to us, and use it to employ American labor?

John Hopkins medical school renders great public service in the study of the "common cold."

It is found to be due to a germ of "virus" so small that the microscope cannot detect it, and no filter will stop its passage. It has been impossible thus far to manufacture a serum to develop immunity in human beings. Such a serum would be next in value too smallpox vaccination. The "common cold," usually neglected, lays the foundation for diseases that cause death.

Paymaster Robbed

COLUMBUS, Nov. 8.—H. W. Beck paymaster for the Boyajohn and Barr contractors, was robbed of between $4,000 and $5,000 today by bandits who accosted him as he was leaving the City National bank in the downtown section. The money was to pay workmen and the new physical education building at Ohio State university.

In the Churches

The Church of Our Saviour, 870 East State street. Rev. Christian A. Roth, rector.

Services Sunday, Nov. 9, the twenty-first Sunday after Trinity.

Celebration of the Holy Communion, 7:30 p. m.

Church school, 9:30 a. m.

Morning prayer and sermon, 11.

Since next Tuesday is Armistice day the thought of that day will be particularly stressed on Sunday in prayers and sermon. Armistice day stands for a continual recollection of the sacrifices made in the World war; sacrifices of nations and of families and of individuals. The day does not yet stand for a universal determination that, like sacrifices, shall never be necessary again. More than fifty nations have signed a pact to outlaw war but we are constantly told of the elaborate preparations that are being made in Europe for the "next war." Armies are, in many cases, larger than they were at the time of the outbreak of the war. The various conferences looking toward partial disarmament have not been very successful. The war spirit undoubtedly possesses a large part of mankind. War will never stop until we are determined to stop it. Formal resolutions are of some value, but not much. American public opinion, were it definite, would have almost a coercive effect and value throughout the world, but in its divided state it is worse than useless.

The church can place a strong emphasis upon peace. But it cannot go beyond that. Agreements of individuals that they will not take up arms, even if their government calls upon them, are worse than useless. War will continue until a substitute for war is generally accepted.

So the church will pray on Sunday:

O Blessed Jesus, Saviour of mankind, at whose birth the night was filled with heavenly radiance: Lighten the thick darkness of the world, and the gloom of our miseries and fears; have compassion upon the peoples of the earth stumbling in confusion, and guide their feet into the way of peace: Who art with the Father and the Holy Ghost one God, world without end. Amen.

11, Morning worship. Armistice day service. Fifty nations of the world, including our own, have signed the Paris peace pact, which reads, in part, "The high contracting parties solemnly declare in the names of their respective peoples that they condemn recourse to war for the solution of international controversies and renounce it as an instrument of national policy in their relations with one another." But the Paris peace pact must be written on human hearts as well as on costly parchment before its aim is to be realized. It is a part of the church's business to thus inscribe its message on the human heart. To this end the sermon theme for this service will be "Mankind's Supreme Sin." There will be an Armistice day story for the boys and girls entitled "The Three Princes." The Junior and Intermediates will retire to their respective rooms during the second hymn.

Sunday school, 9:45, (St. John 20: 24-29). H. E. Smith, Supt.

The Christian religion may be found lacking in physical verification of some of its truths and doctrines. The test-tube is defied. The microscope is found useless. It is faith alone that will show the way clear to acceptance in full belief. Thus there is presented the easy possibility of doubt. God would not try to eliminate doubt from the world. Since doubt may be here, there is a chance of a higher and finer faith. The trust that Thomas had in Jesus Christ was of a lower nature because he demanded physical evidence. Faith accepts without seeing.

Morning worship, 11. Sermon, "Soul Winning."

Not all the world accepts Christ as Savior. Not all America, yea not all of our own city can be counted as won for Christ and His Kingdom. Thus the work of every Christian is defined by the great head of the church, Jesus Christ. Souls are won not by chance, but by the work of the Holy Spirit and the efforts of Christian men and women. We must be more than Christians ourselves. We must attempt to direct others in this way of life. Silently may we witness for Christ, but by word of mouth are we to win our fellow citizens to His church.

MINE DISASTER PROMPTS STEPS TOWARD SAFETY

Assembly Members Pledge Support To Remedial Legislation

(By International News Service)

ATHENS, Nov. 8.— Legislative proposals designed to insure stricter inspection of mines and provide greater safety may result from the mining disaster at Millfield Wednesday, it was learned today.

State Senator-Elect Louis Eberle (D), off Nelsonville, and State Rep. S. K. Mardis (R), of Athens, both stated today that they would offer their support to any legislative proposal to avert future mine tragedies in Ohio.

They had no specific legislative proposal in mind, however, at this time

Eberle, who is familiar with mining conditions, having operated about a dozen of them, registered his personal opposition to the use of open lamps in mines.

"This is one of the most terrible things that ever happened," said Eberle. "While I have nothing definite in mind at this time, I certainly will introduce a bill at the coming session of the Ohio legislature—providing I have been elected a senator—if I find anything that I think can improve the existing mining laws."

Mardis said he will gladly introduce and support any remedial legislation that miners or operators may submit to him.

TRAIN BANDITS ELUDE POLICE

Lack Of Clews In Oakland Robbery Handicaps Authorities

(By Associated Press)

OAKLAND, Cal., Nov. 8.—The thorough methods of the outlaws who robbed a Southern Pacific local train of $55,700 at Nobel, Cal., yesterday, left authorities little in the way of clues today.

Search centered in the hills east of San Francisco Bay where it was believed the band of five to seven may have a hideout, and in the known rendezvous of underworld characters in the bay cities.

The uniformity of dress of the bandits — brown overalls, yellow caps and white masks—prevented officers from obtaining good descriptions.

One of the bandits, armed and masked, who apparently had boarded the train at Berkeley, made his way to the locomotive as it approached Nobel and ordered Engineer R. E. Lowery to stop.

There the bandit's companions, armed with automatic rifles, pistols and sawed off shot-guns, waited in a stolen automobile. The entire train was immediately covered with their battery and a shot—the only one to be fired—was sent into the mail car with the command to "open up."

Methodically they looted the mail car, passing the mail and money to the waiting automobile. Their principal loot was about $55,000 consigned by the Federal Reserve bank to the American Trust company branch at Pittsburgh. The money was to meet payroll checks of the Columbia Steel Works company. The workers at the plant were not paid because of the robbery.

Scarcely 15 minutes after the train had stopped the robbers sped away in the automobile with the loot. Passengers were not molested, nor was baggage disturbed.

A sack containing $1,000 in cash, an empty mail sack which had been slashed open, and the pistol and holster taken from the mail clerk were found near the scene.

Traveling Theatre Tours Through Germany in Bus

Leading Actors and Actresses of German Stage, Touring the Hinterlands, Blaze the Torch of Drama and Bring Joy to Rural Villages.

THE TRAVELING THEATRE.

ACTRESSES ADVERTISE OWN SHOW IN RING UP THE CURTAIN.

BERLIN.—In Germany the torch of the drama is alight in the tiniest town or village. The Traveling Players of Berlin, an organization financed by a wealthy and artistic sponsor, has in six years gained world-wide fame, and lovers of the drama in other lands are studying the methods of the motor mummers to ascertain whether their unique methods can be copied.

No mean or amateur productions are permitted by the German traveling players. If the setting is in a barn with hay and agricultural implements hastily pushed to one side, it makes no difference. The splendid orchestra plays, scenery and props are all used and a perfect lighting system adds to the reality and perfection of the production.

The idea was founded on a desire to afford steady employment for some of the ablest actors and actresses of the German stage, during the often inactive summer season. That and the wish to give people in outlying districts the opportunity to enjoy the best of plays presented by a capable cast with fine settings. A large motor bus and trailer were purchased. The bus has seats for thirty-five persons and ample luggage space. The trailer, a specially built van, holds the scenery and properties for a repertoire of six plays and one operetta. Costumes, like the scenery equipment and lighting, are the best.

The company numbers within its ranks, eighteen able performers, all except two being of the original company. There are five fine musicians and five mechanics. There are six new plays and a new and lively operetta, every year. The wandering players are versatile, they play broad farce, drawing-room comedy and tragedies. Some plays are from the classics of other days, others, are plays that have had long runs in some of the finest contemporary theaters. The orchestra is as much an attraction as the plays themselves. They are all symphony musicians.

The itinerary of the traveling players is made up before the company leaves Berlin, where they spend weeks in ardous and thorough rehearsals. Thus they know exactly when and where they will present their shows long in advance. The company plays in whatever auditorium is available. Sometimes it is the Council Chamber of the town or village, sometimes the auditorium of the town's largest concert or music hall. Occasionally the leading hotel's lobby or drawing room becomes for the nonce the theater. Occasionally it is a lodge room. But whatever the spot, the players are not temperamental. They are proud of their art and feel that it does not depend upon settings to give it full emphasis. They are happy to bring the drama to the most out-of-the-way places. That is their purpose.

The patrons of the motor mummers eagerly await their share of the drama and always have some sort of a theater ready for them when they arrive in their bus. The whole village assists in unloading and placing the scenery, wardrobe trunks, portable footlights, spotlights and the vast paraphernalia that even the smallest theatrical organization needs.

Needless to say the house is always sold out long in advance. There is always a capacity audience, vociferous in its enthusiasm. In the larger communities they stay a week presenting a different play nightly and an operetta at the matinee performance. In smaller districts they remain from one to three days. But wherever they go the tale is the same. Gratitude to those who find joy in giving the best of the theater to those who are starved for the joy that even an ordinary play brings, be it presented before a rural or an urban audience.

Case Is Dismissed

LISBON, Nov. 8.—Robert J. Boyce, plaintiff in a divorce petition filed against his wife, Grace Boyce, May 1, 1929, having since died, the injunction heretofore allowed by the court in this issue on the cross petition of the defendant has been dissolved, and the case dismissed by Judge W. F. Lones. The costs in the case are to be paid by the estate of the plaintiff, with no further record appearing.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y.—Henry Eberhardt, Schenectady florist, still is bemoaning the fate which caused an escaped monkey to spoil his chances of bagging a deer near North Creek in the Adirondacks. Eberhardt was on the alert for a shot, when he heard a crackling of branches overhead. He looked up and saw a monkey. At the same time a buck came within range but Eberhardt had dropped his rifle in surprise.

COOPER CALLS TAXATION MEET

State Committee To Convene At Columbus On Nov. 12

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS, Nov. 8.—Governor Myer Y. Cooper today called a meeting of his state committee on taxation here November 12, starting at 1 p. m.

"It is expected that the committee will make its report in time for Governor Cooper to make use of its suggestions in his message to the general assembly just prior to his retirement from office," said Charles A. Jones, the governor's secretary.

"It is believed that the studies made by the taxation committee, covering a period of months, will prove of great value to the new administration (of Governor-elect George White) in considering tax legislation."

Denies $330 Note

LISBON, Nov. 8.—In a suit filed by Alexander W. Jenkins, by his counsel, Billingsley & Moore of Lisbon, against Benjamin H. Curry and others, the plaintiff denies ever signing a note held by them for and if such a note exists, that the signature is a forgery.

Jenkins has set up that a judgment has been entered against him in the municipal court at Cincinnati, and that an execution is about to be levied upon his property, and against such action the court has been asked to issue a restraining order.

It has also been set up in the petition that the note has been placed in the hands of Att'y. Raymond Knepper of Wellsville, to collect, and also that the plaintiff never signed the note at issue.

Lacks Prosecution

LISBON, Nov. 8.—For want of prosecution, the action for money only filed by Lorraine B. Marshall against William G. McCann has been dismissed by Judge Lones at the costs of the plaintiff and without further record.

Leave to the plaintiff to file an amended petition at once has been granted by the court in the case of Jane R. Phillips against the City of East Liverpool.

In the appeal action filed June 12, 1929 by F. G. Ackerman against George Allen, the court has allowed the plaintiff leave to file a petition on or before November 15.

Wife Asks Divorce

LISBON, Nov. 8.—Mabel Rouse, a minor, through her next friend, Mary Lewis, has filed a divorce petition in common pleas court against her husband, George Rouse, her counsel being L. M. Keyes of East Palestine. The couple were married Oct. 13, 1928. Gross neglect of duty is given as a ground of action. Both temporary and permanent alimony is sought in this case.

GRETNA, La.,—Elizabeth Roussel, 80, the original "Aunt Liza" in the negro writings of Emmett Kennedy, died here recently.

Veterans Of Foreign Wars To Take Part In Services

Legion home. The cmoplete program will be announced by committees in charge of the affair Monday.

A number of Salem churches will hold appropriate services Sunday. The First Baptist congregation will hold a memorial service at 11 a. m. in which the veterans will be honored. The service will be semi-military. Rev. A. C. Westphal, pastor, will speak on the subject, "The Western Front." A special song, "Beyond the Sunset Bar" will be sung by the choir while a visual evangel, "Blood Stained Flags," will be given for children of the congregation.

Rev. C. A. Roth, pastor of the Church of Our Saviour, calls attention to the solemnity of observance of Armistice day, stating that "Armistice day stands for a recollection of the sacrifices made in the World war, sacrifices of nations, families and individuals."

A special prayer for peace will be offered by Rev. Roth in the services at the Church of Our Saviour Sunday.

Judge W. S. Slocum On Lisbon Bench

LISBON, Nov. 8.—On account of the court of appeals sitting in common pleas court next week, commencing at 1 p. m. Monday, no assignment is being made up for No. 1 court room by Assignment Commissioner James G. Stevenson for the coming week.

Judge Winfield S. Slocum of Painesville has been assigned to preside in this county for two weeks, starting Nov. 17, when jury cases will be tried in both No. 1 and No. 2 court rooms. The assignment for the week of November 17 is now being worked up.

There will be only four days of court the week of Nov. 24, on account of the Thanksgiving holiday. Judge Slocum has not presided in this county since early in the year, when he was assigned to this county upon two different occasions.

Bandits Thwarted

Plainfield, Ill., Nov. 8.—Two disappointed bandits who "shot up" the State bank of Plainfield in the approved wild west fashion only to find the glass-enclosed cashier's cage impervious to their bullets, were being hunted today.

Surprised to find their bullets dropping harmlessly from the bullet-proof glass before the cashier's cage, the pair fled without getting any loot.

THE DAY In Sports

CLOTHES BY CAVANAUGH

Albie Booth, catching a Harvard kick-off at Soldiers' field last fall, momentarily juggled the ball—just long enough to bring his Yale interference piling up the Crimson would-be tacklers—set the stage for a runback of 95 yards for a touchdown when he reversed his field and broke into the clear with no one in front of him. He completed a third of the distance when Bill Ticknor reached out a long despairing hand and stayed Booth's flight by grabbing the slack in the shoulder of Albie's jersey.

Immediately after the game Adam Walsh made the statement that Booth would not have been stopped by Ticknor had he worn a Fordham uniform.

Why a Fordham uniform? Because Fordham wears a costume that carries no slack in the jersey. Its suits are all one-piece. The top part is a vest, the old-fashioned doublet type, laced down the front, form fitting style, and is connected to the pants by an elastic belt or band. A jersey is worn under the vest. No shoulder pads are used, instead a quarter of an inch of belt being built into the vest from shoulder to shoulder.

Last year, when Fordham was rolling up its impressive record the team and its uniforms came under widespread notice. In appearance the team, because of the doubler, was a throwback to the days of guards-back formations, five-point field goals and the flynig wedge when all teams wore such costumes.

Fordham this year is using the same one-piece uniform and is the only team in the country equipped in such a fashion. Striking features are the high thigh guards of different cut than others to prevent charley-horse; special shoes with rubber built into the uppers to prevent ankle injuries, and one long cleat to replace the customary number as an aid to footing in either dry or wet turf.

If football programs were arranged in the style of theatrical programs they would bear this footnote: Costumes by Cavanaugh. The inventor and designer of this Maroon outfit is Major Frank Cavanaugh, the coach. A student of the game to which he has given many years of his life, Cavanaugh has accomplished great things in football. It was Cavanaugh who pioneered the straight buck on direct pass and it was Cavanaugh who brought out the spiral pass from center to replace the end-over-end method. He also invented the famous Dartmouth off-tackle play.

Cavanaugh invented the new uniforms when, on going to Boston College in 1921, he was faced with an inadequate supply of shoulder pads and an over-abundance of shoulder injuries among the players. He tossed out the pads and designed the new layers of felt and had no trouble with injured shoulders. When he came to Fordham he designed the one-piece uniforms and since no Maroon ball-carrier has been thrown by being caught by the slack in his jersey or a loose belt in the pants.

One reason for Fordham's present great record is the absence of injuries. Perhaps, in the next few seasons all football teams will go wearing Costumes by Cavanaugh.

Coach Everett S. Dean, head basketball and baseball coach at Indiana University has completed the preparation of a set of 74 colored lantern slides illustrating new methods of instruction for basketball coaches. The slides by form pictures, charts, and explanations visualize basketball plays and fundamentals. They show offensive plays which have been used by Indiana other Big Ten teams and are accompanied by a booklet which explains details of the plays and pictures.

Crowd Of 50,000 Will View Combat; Indiana Meets Northwestern

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Army's unbeaten football team ruled a 2 to 1 favorite today to take the measure of the much cuffed-about University of Illinois eleven at Yankee Stadium this afternoon. It is estimated that 50,000 persons will view the combat.

There are plenty of experts who will not be surprised if Coach Robert C. Zuppke of Illinois redeems a disastrous season by coming with a victory. If he does he will astonish the football world, for, in the light of its record, Illinois looks anything but formidable. They were slaughtered by Northwestern, 32 to 0, beaten by Michigan, 15 to 7, and crushed by Purdue last Saturday, 25 to 0.

Army, on the other hand, has gone through a hard season unbeaten. It was held to a 7-to-7 tie by Yale but conquered Harvard, 6 to 0, and rolled up big scores against their other adversaries. On paper they check up entirely too strong for Illinois.

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—The midwest, with only a scanty layout of football entertainment today, had one eye cocked on the east where four of its major representatives had engagements.

Heading the list at home is Northwestern's invasion of Indiana in which the only uncertain angle appeared to be the size of the score by which Dick Hanley's unbeaten Wildcats would whip the Hoosiers. Indiana, with three victories over supposedly stronger Northwestern teams during the past three seasons, appeared to be in for a real licking, and Northwestern expected its fourth straight Big Ten triumph.

Purdue Meets Chicago

The situation was about the same at Stagg field where Purdue was paired with Chicago. The Boilermakers, since their unfortunate start at Michigan in the initial contest of the conference season, have steadily picked up momentum and looked able to defeat the luckless Maroons by a lop-sided margin.

A tough battle was in prospect at Milwaukee where Iowa, somewhat revived after a weak start, had a date with Marquette's unbeaten eleven. Another great struggle was expected at Detroit where Fordham's powerful outfit was down to meet the University of Detroit. The Titans lost their first game of the season to Iowa last week, but were primed to the hilt to redeem themselves by taking Major Frank Cavanaugh's great eleven.

WASHINGTONVILLE

The Women's Home Circle club members were entertained on Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Leon Vignon. Special guests were Mrs. Ansel Senhetser, Mrs. H. L. McIntosh, Mrs. Roy Mathey, Washingtonville, and Mrs. James Edwards and Miss Hermena Menning of Salem. Contests were the evening's diversions and honors were won by Miss Grace Weikart, Mrs. C. H. Weikart and Mrs. H. L. McIntosh. The hostess served lunch. In two weeks the club will be entertained in the home of Mrs. C. R. Taylor.

Mrs. Celesta Lewis of Leetonia, is a guest in the home of Mrs. Hannah Stouffer.

Mrs. Charity Roller returned to her home here after spending several days in the home of her son, Roy Roller and family at East Palestine.

Roy Shimer and family have moved into the Ashley property, near the school building.

The Ladies of the Methodist church had an all-day sewing at the church on Wednesday, making preparations for their annual bazaar and chicken supper which will be held on Saturday evening, Nov. 22.

Howard Russell and George Kennedy, Salem, spent Friday afternoon with Harley Woods, who has been ill.

The Christmas entertainment committee of Trinity Lutheran Sunday school met at the church on Friday evening. Plans were made for a cantata which will be rendered at Christmas time.

Mrs. Herbert Smedley and daughter, Mrs. Layton DeLawter, visited Mrs. James DeLawter, who is ill at East Rochester, on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Davis and daughters, and Miss Clara Weikart were Tuesday visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hannay at Salem.

Mrs. Glenn McNeelan and Mrs. Curtis Grindle attended a bridge party in the home of Miss Jane Hunt at Salem on Thursday evening.

A large number of visitors attended assembly at the school on Wednesday morning. The fifth grade, taught by Miss Kruger, gave an interesting program.

The condition of Mrs. Anna Culler, who is ill, is unimproved.

Mrs. Moses Grindle was injured in her home on Friday when she tripped on a rug, falling against the door. She received cuts and bruises about her head and face.

Mrs. Thomas Murphy is visiting with relatives in West Virginia.

At End of Season

Lou Gehrig, stalwart first baseman of the New York Yankees, went through a tough season of 154 games this year without wilting. Recently he went to St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, and had three minor operations performed, operations he had postponed until the end of the season in order not to break up his record of consecutive games played.

NEW WATERFORD

Church societies meeting this week included the Methodist W. F. M. S. which convened with Mrs. C. B. Williams on Tuesday night; the Carrie Barge meeting with Mrs. S. E. McCune on Thursday evening; the Lutheran Ladies' society which was entertained by Mrs. William Springer on Thursday when the study of the women of the Bible was continued; the Presbyterian Missionary society with Miss Anna Bevan on Thursday afternoon and the Ladies Aid with Mrs. W. G. Hisey that evening.

On Sunday evening at 7:30, the three local churches will unite in an Armistice Day service in the Methodist church. A union choir will furnish the music. There will be a speaker, and the program will follow the suggestions of the World Peace commission of the M. E. church.

The Home Economics classes prepared and served a two-course dinner at 6 p. m. on Thursday to the members of the New Waterford school board, Superintendent Leonard and Gray of the county school personnel, and the teachers of the local school. The dinner was followed by a board meeting.

Wednesday was visiting day for the teachers here.

Mrs. H. H. Hart was hostess to the Tuesday Evening Bridge club this week, with three tables of bridge in play. Guests were Mrs. Charles Atkinson of East Palestine; Mrs. S. E. McCune; Miss Jean Lytle and Miss Evelyn Johnston. Mrs. Atkinson won the guest prize. Players' prizes were won by Mrs. John H. Koch and Mrs. Curtis Sitler.

Grove Cagers Want Pre-Season Game

Football season isn't over yet but basketball is already making its appearance in Salem.

Practices have been held by players planning to participate in city league competition this fall and winter for the past two weeks and now comes the first challenge of the year.

Eddie Tressler, manager of the H. E. Grove Electric company team, today issued a defy at the Golden Eagle cage quintet, asking for a pre-season game to be played between the two teams at Memorial gym next week.

The Electrics and Golden Eagles both have been working out regularly and will enter the Salem Class A municipal league.

Tressler hurled the challenge at Max Caplan, Golden Eagle manager, and asks a reply through The News.

WORLD'S CHAMP TO BATTLE IN CANTON SHOW

Maxie Rosenbloom Meets Patsy Perroni In Non-Title Mix

CANTON, Nov. 8—Northeastern Ohio fight bugs get their first glimpse of Maxie Rosenbloom, world light-heavyweight champion, in the auditorium arena here on the night of Monday, Nov. 17. The occasion is a ten-round battle between the champion and Patsy Perroni of Canton, a youngster who has been stepping along rapidly and should be a big shot in the heavyweight class within two years.

Rosenbloom's 175-pound title will not be at stake, as he would not sign for the match with the rugged young Cantonian except with the stipulation that Perroni enter the ring at 177 pounds or over. erroni, still a legitimate light-heavy, can make 175 with ease but grabbed the chance to face a champion even though the mill does not bring him a title shot.

Although not yet old enough to vote by a couple of years, Perroni has been in the professional fight game for several years and has made steady progress. He is a product of the amateur sport here and made his professional debut as a middleweight. He has acquired considerable skill and packs a terrific punch in both right and left. In recent months he has been fighting among the heavies.

Four other bouts have been lined up for the show to include boys from Dover, Akron, East Liverpool, Canton and Wilkes-Barre, Pa. The carries a total of 38 rounds.

it's a good time to refurnish the home

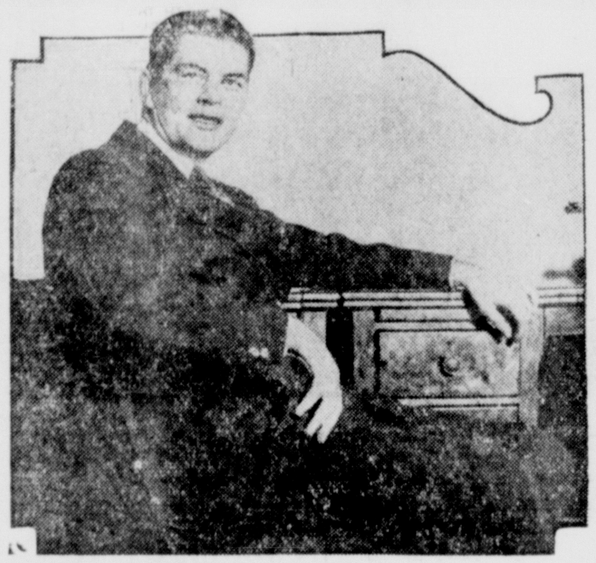

A man's idea about a house is that once it's furnished, it's furnished. Of course it's silly and any woman knows that isn't true. The government a few years ago made a study of the expenditures of a number of families with three children. Presumably all of them had their houses fairly equipped. And yet it was found that out of each $100 spent by the family, $4.40 went each year for furniture. There are always things to be purchased for the house. That's why this store sells thousands of dollars worth of fine, fashionable furniture and home furnishings each year.

Right now is a good time to consider one's furniture requirements. Prices of furniture have been reduced more than any other item in the family budget. They are the lowest since the war.

You are invited to inspect our displays. Make a survey of prices and qualities and we feel sure that you will agree that no store in this section is selling smart furniture at such low prices. Remember, we are open every evening until nine.

Court Urges Prompt Action To Reduce Cases On Docket

Judge W. S. Slocum Of Painesville To Assist For Two Weeks

LISBON, Nov. 8.—When the assignment for common pleas court was issued this morning, and Judge W. F. Lones announced that Judge W. S. Slocum of Painesville, would assist him for two weeks beginning Nov. 17, the court said:

"Beginning Nov. 17, it is expected that all cases assigned will be tried, settled or dismissed when reached. Numerous cases have been assigned this term, but while several equity suits have been heard, only a few jury cases have been tried, because when reached the parties were not ready.

"Now that Labor day, the county fair, Columbus day, Hallowe'en and the election has passed into history and by Nov. 17 the fall term of the court of appeals will be over, there will be nothing to prevent counsel from being ready for trial in all cases assigned. Counsel are asked upon receipt of the new assignment to get in touch with clients and prepare cases and get ready for trial. During the remainder of the term, cases must be tried when reached. Cases will not be passed by agreement. Those heretofore passed by agreement have been passed to the heel of the docket. As the court of appeals will be in session the week of Nov. 10, common pleas court will be in session only on Monday and Friday forenoon.

AUSTIN, TEX.—Indians on the state reservation in Polk county refuse to occupy modern cottages built for them by the state. One brave has accepted a cottage but he uses it only as a support for a lean-to built against it and occupied by his family.

OCRACOKE ISLAND, N. C.—October proved the most successful month of the entire year for channel bass anglers along the coast here. During the first two weeks, fishing parties, mainly composed of northern sportsmen landed over 250 bass.

GERVAI ORE — Sixteen years ago Jake Bingham concealed $100 in bills because there wasn't a bank in the town at that time. He forgot it. Cleaning his office recently, he was $100 richer.

American Victims in Cuban Sea Tragedy

John T. Wainwright (upper) American Vice-Consul to C was drowned in a futile attemp aid in the rescue of Mrs. Willi R. Jackson, wife of the Americ Vice-Consul to Havana, when she fell into the sea in Matanzas Bay. Mrs. Jackson's husband (lower) disappeared in the strong undertow in an attempt to reach her with the aid of Wainwright.

ABOUT TOWN

Moose Entertain

Arrangements have been completed for the first of a series of entertainments for members off Salem lodge No. 571, L. O. O. M., their families and friends, which will be held at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at the temple, East State street. A program of speeches and special music has been arranged. Refreshments will be served.

The second entertainment will be held on Dec. 7.

Rebekah Lodge

Plans were made at a meeting of Home lodge No. 110, Daughters of Rebekah, Friday evening, for inspection which will be held on Nov. 21. Mrs. Thalia Idleman of Youngstown, will be inspecting officer. Initiation will also be held.

On Wednesday evening the Past Noble Grand association will meet at the hall, South Broadway.

Rev. Roane Speaker

Rev. Claud A. Roane of Columbus was the speaker at the ministry and oversight meeting of the Damascus Quarterly meeting Friday afternoon at Damascus. Several members of the Salem Friends church were in attendance.

Hospital Notes

Julienne and Karen Delfs of Canfield had their tonsils removed Saturday morning at the Salem City hospital.

Nell Finnegan, also of Canfield, has entered the hospital for surgical treatment.

Circle 4

Members of Circle 4 of the Methodist church met Friday at the home of Mrs. W. M. Stewart. The time was spent sewing. Sixteen gowns were made for the Red Cross loan chest.

OCRACOKE ISLAND, N. C.—Northerly winds and continued cold weather have brought a great many wild fowl of various species south to the Carolina coast to spend the winter. Game is reported plentiful throughout the banks and sounds of the coastal region.

MT. ANGEL, ORE.—Joe Bertold has a pond filled with goldfish. Then he placed some rainbow trout therein. Now Joe has a new species. He wants a name.

Today's Pattern

The scalloped cape collar and low, graceful skirt flare joined in scalloped effect, are delightful features of this smart model. Tiny waistline tucks assist in moulding the frock to the figure, although you may wear a belt if you prefer.

Pattern 1910 is exquisite fashioned of canton or flat crepe, sheer velvet, satin or triple georgette. Whether you select a solid color or a print, a dark ground—black, brown, green, blue—will be extremely smart.

May be obtained only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 4¼ yards of 39 inch material.

COUPON

This pattern will be delivered upon receipt of 15c, coin or stamps, carefully wrapped. Latest Fashion Book 10c. Send all orders to SALEM NEWS PATTERN DEPARTMENT, 243 WEST 17TH STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

MOVIES

In Talkie Role

Buster Keaton is starred in the comedy "Doughboys" at the State next week.

Comedy week will be observed at the State and Grand theaters for six days starting Monday with appearance at these playhouses of four of the year's outstanding humorous talkies. Buster Keaton, Cliff Edwards, Spencer Tracy, William Haines, Polly Moran, Ted Healy and other noted comic characters are included in the casts of the productions.

"Doughboys," rated as Buster Keaton's greatest comedy in talking, starts the week at the State, playing there Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. While this picture is being shown at that playhouse, the Grand features, on the same three days, "Up the River," a burlesue on the dramatic vehicle, "The Big House," which appeared here last week.

William Haines, Polly Moran and Cliff Edwards take leading roles in "Way Out West," a new type of humorous comedy with a thrilling adventurous and romantic background. This production shows at the State Thursday, Friday and Saturday. "Soup to Nuts", another laugh -evoking affair is at the Grand three days starting Thursday.

The Royal in a double attraction shows the only straight drama of the week, showing "What Men Want" is a picture based on a flaming youth story written by Warner Fabian and is based on the supposedly alluring and vivacious present-day life in society's fast young set. Pauline Starke, Barbara Kent and Ben Lyon are the stars.

Sally Eilers and Cliff Edwards support Buster Keaton in "Doughboys" and once again Edwards cops all honors. "Soup to Nnts" is taken from comedy strips by Rube Goldeberg.

Besides the feature comedies the two theaters show a series of humorous sketches, the State having scheduled "Who Killed Rover?" "Mickey's Warriors," a Revue and Cartoon while the Grand shows "Despondent Sam" and "His Honor, the Mayor."

"Love in the Rough" with Benny Rubin furnishing the laughs and Robert Montgomery and Dorothy Jordan the romance, plays at the Grand tonight. The State shows "Lilliom" with Charles Farrell starring while "Parade of the West" is at the Royal.

AUSTIN, TEX.—Just when complaints of laws delays had led the state of Texas to consider an amendment to its constitution keeping its supreme court in session 12 months a year instead of nine, the court acted on 290 cases at one sitting. While the court was in vacation, the judges had been working.
